LAND, SEA AND AIR FIGHT CONTINUING

Germans Hurrying Forward
Fresh Troops and Heavy
Guns in Belgium

MANY REPORTS COME BASED UPON RUMORS

Belgians Succeed in Forcing
Germans From Right
Bank of Yser

London, Oct. 23.—Vessels from the French navy, having cruised around the coast were to-day standing by the British monitors which are hurling shells landward between Ostend and Nieuport on the Belgian coast in continuation of the fierce battle between the allies and Germany for the possession of the North Sea and Channel ports. For the first time since the war began, aircraft and warships are aiding simultaneously in the movements of land forces; thus the struggle is being waged in the air, on the sea and on the land, at the same time.

The Germans are hurrying forward fresh troops and heavy guns, the latter to make reply to the damaging fire from the ships and although they have been pushed back at certain points, they appear to be holding their line between the sea and Labassee without, however, making noteworthy progress.

The fight, so far as Belgium is concerned, has now resolved itself into a terrific artillery duel, in which the allies, by reason of their long range guns, have had the advantage. It is said that up to the present time the British naval losses have been negligible, although both sides must have suffered heavily on land. The Germans claim to have put a British torpedo boat out of action. Albert, king of the Belgians, who since his retirement from Ostend has been reported in various points in northern France, appears to be at the scene of fighting. This information is on the authority of the British admiralty. Dispatches say that the queen is also with the Belgian army, but this must be classed as a rumor, much the same as the reports that General von Moltke, chief of the German general staff, is seriously ill and the statement that Emperor William again has moved his headquarters. The report that General von Moltke's son has been killed also is revived and it will be remembered that only recently it was rumored that General von Moltke had been removed as chief of the general staff.

That the German line south of Ostend has been cut and that a retirement has set in, figures among a number of other unconfirmed news reports this morning. On the other hand, another correspondent of the Times says the Germans have not left Brugge, and that they are still in great force in the neighborhood of Ostend. What withdrawal of troops there has been toward Bruges, this correspondent adds, is only a precautionary measure.

A message from Havre says the Belgians have regained the right bank of the river Yser, and this is the first information that they were forced to give ground there in the recent fighting. All official statements given out by the allies have insisted that they were valiantly resisting the German assaults. The use of the word "regained," however, would seem to indicate that the Germans at times have made advances. The dykes of this waterway have now been cut, making the situation of the Germans more difficult.

BUILDING LIGHTERS TO SEND TO THE SCHELDT

Germans Planning to Send Men to England Should They Get the Chance.

Copenhagen, Oct. 23.—Two shipyards at Kiel, the Germania and the Howard, are building thirty armored lighters capable of carrying 500 men each and travelling at the rate of 9 miles an hour to proceed to the river Scheldt, should events permit the landing of German troops on the coast of England. Furthermore it is asserted that three of the lighters are completed and on their way to the Scheldt.

The Germans are building an airship shed in Schleswig for two large keppels.

The Kockum shipyards at Malmo, Sweden, are building two submarines but as no money has been appropriated by the Swedish parliament for submarines, according to information here, the suggestion is made in Copenhagen that they were ordered by Germany.

SWEDISH STEAMER LOST.

London, Oct. 23.—The Swedish steamer Alice, homeward bound from London, has been blown up by a mine in the North Sea. She sank in three minutes. All the members of her crew were saved.

RESULTS INDECISIVE OVER WESTERN AREA

British Reinforcements Sent to Assist French in Northern Extension

VERY LITTLE FIGHTING ALONG BANKS OF AISNE

Official Information Bureau
Issues Statement From Observer at the Front

London, Oct. 23.—The official information bureau has given out another account by an eyewitness of recent operations. This recital is dated October 17, and explains that, with the arrival of reinforcements the British have been able to play a more prominent part, assisting in the gradual extension to the northward, which has thrown British troops to the Franco-Belgian border.

"Up to recently," says the statement, "the extension northward had been carried out by the French alone."

The narrative goes on to explain that there have been actions in the two western theatres of the war, from Nieuport south, and along the Aisne, and continues: "In both these theatres the results attained, without being in any way decisive, have been entirely satisfactory and in furtherance of the general scheme which the allied armies are carrying out in co-operation."

"In the southern part of the two spheres, in the Aisne, our right wing has been maintaining its pressure without actually moving forward, while in the northern sphere our left wing has advanced a considerable distance in face of opposition."

"On the Aisne, since the repulse inflicted on the enemy the night of October 10, there has been no serious fighting and less artillery action than usual because the misty, rainy weather has rendered observation almost impossible. On the night of October 13-14, the enemy commenced an attack which was not pushed through. Our patrols have been active with the bayonet at night, and they have accounted for numerous small parties of German infantry left to occupy their front trenches. But the positions of the opposing forces have remained practically unchanged."

"In the north of France the fighting so far has been of a preparatory nature alone. As stated, ground has been gained by us but the misty weather has hampered aerial reconnaissance and at times rendered artillery co-operation almost impossible, which factors have made progress somewhat slow."

The narrative here describes the nature of the country along the Belgian frontier, explaining that hedges are frequent, that trees often restrict the view and that means of communication are bad.

"It is in a blind country of this nature," the narrator goes on, "that our advance guards near the Belgian frontier are engaging the advance troops of the enemy. The latter consists in some places of cavalry supported by Jager and Schutz detachments, with large numbers of machine guns and others with larger bodies of infantry."

"As was the case in our advance up to the Aisne, the enemy is making every effort to delay our progress, no doubt to give time for the stronger forces behind to perfect their arrangements."

"In general they take every advantage that is to be obtained from the ground and conceal themselves well, making use of ditches and hedges and the villages they hold, together with buildings, many of which have been placed in a state of defence."

FRENCH SEIZE BLANKETS SENT TO SWITZERLAND

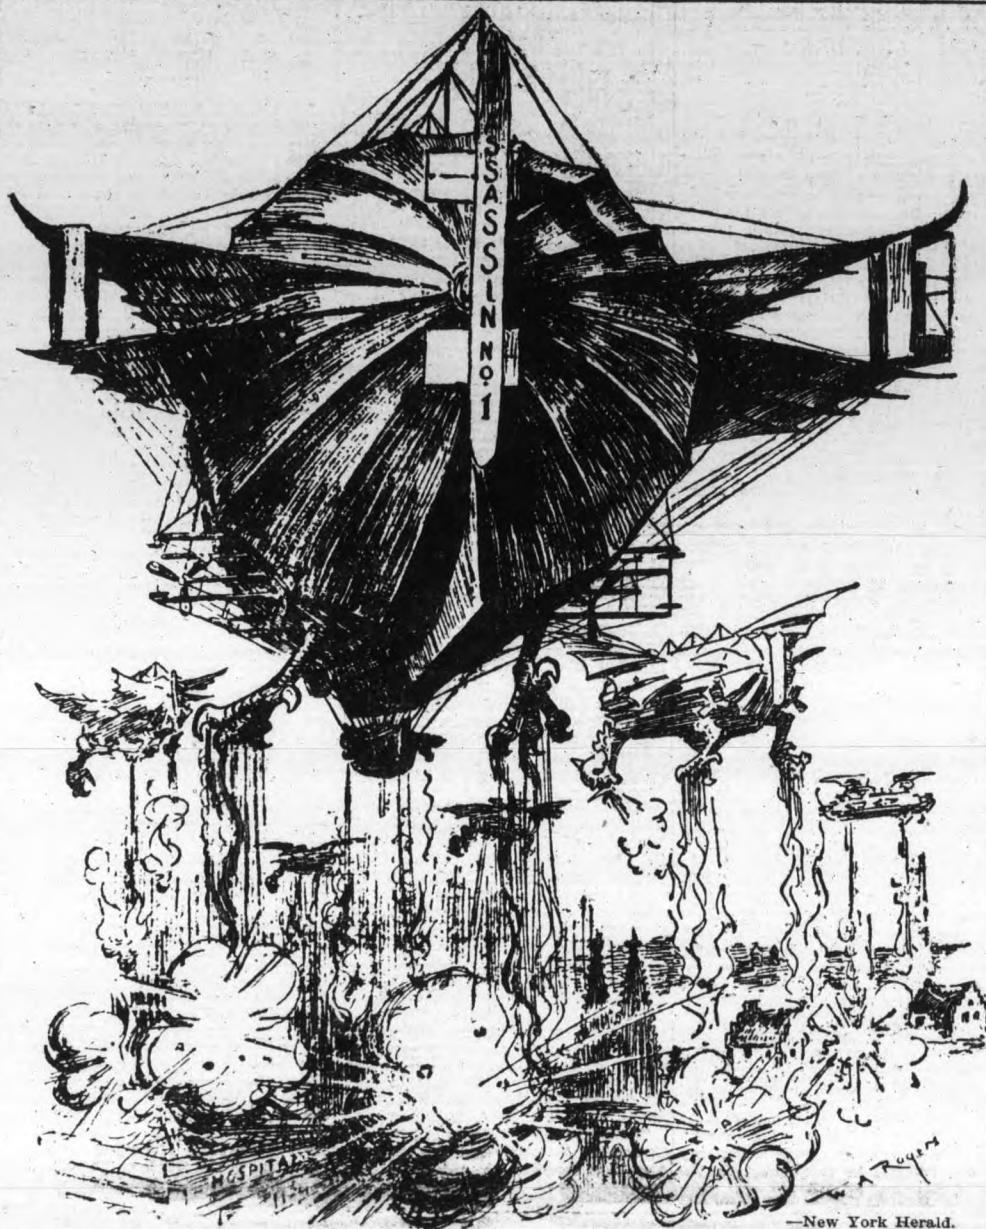

London, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Madrid to the Exchange Telegraph Company, under date of Thursday, says that a Barcelona message states that the French customs officers at Cerbere, near the southeastern boundary between France and Spain, seized as contraband a quantity of blankets which were made in Catalonia and were addressed to Swiss factories but, it is believed, were destined for the German army.

The Spanish government, the dispatch also states, has prohibited the export of horses and mules, which had been started on a large scale.

PRINCE MAXIMILLIAN OF HESSE KILLED OCT. 12

London, Oct. 23.—Mystery surrounding the fate of Prince Maximilian of Hesse, a son of the youngest sister of Emperor William, was cleared to-day when the official information bureau announced that the prince had been killed Oct. 12 in the hard fighting in the neighborhood of Montescates. He was buried on the grounds of the "non-astrary" crouching this morning.

BRITISH SHIPS ARE SUNK BY KARLSRUHE

Crews of Thirteen Vessels Are Taken to Tenerife by German Steamer

London, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Tenerife, Canary Islands, to the Daily Mail under date of Thursday, reports that the German cruiser Karlsruhe has sunk thirteen British merchantmen in the Atlantic.

The news of the Karlsruhe's exploit, according to the Daily Mail's Tenerife correspondent, was brought to that port by the German steamer Crefeld, which arrived there with the crews of the British steamers Strathroy, Maple Branch, Highland Hope, Indrani, Rio Igassu, Farn, Niceto, Maria de Larringa, Cervantes, Cornish City, Pruth, Condor and Lynrowa, all of which were sunk by the Karlsruhe. The Crefeld was accompanied into port by the German steamers Patagonia, Rio Negro and Asuncion.

A later message states that more than 400 men of the crews are prisoners. The ships were mostly engaged in the South American trade and their total tonnage is about 60,000.

The cruiser Karlsruhe, a ship of a tonnage less than 5,000 tons, has had in this war a career as eventful as that of her smaller sister ship, the Emden, in the Indian ocean.

The Karlsruhe first came into notice at the outbreak of the war, when she appeared in the vicinity of Sandy Hook apparently in wait for British merchantmen leaving New York. For a few days British shipping hugged the pier and then came news that the Karlsruhe had been driven away by the approach of several British cruisers.

On August 9 the Karlsruhe appeared in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, where she coaled and again took to sea. Soon after it was learned that the Karlsruhe had been in a running fight at sea with the British cruisers Suffolk and Bristol.

Since then the Karlsruhe has appeared in several West Indian ports for coal after preying on various South American Sea commerce. An official statement, given out in Berlin October 8, says she had sunk seven British steamers in the Atlantic.

The Karlsruhe is a comparatively new ship, having gone into commission early in 1912.

Dominion Trust Closes Doors Until Shareholders' Meeting

Directors Say that Affairs of Company Will Have to Be Gone
Into Minutely and That the Assets Are More Than Liabilities

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—At a special meeting of the directors of the Dominion Trust Company, held yesterday, it was decided that it was in the best interests of the creditors and the management of the company that the company should close their offices temporarily, until a meeting of the shareholders can be called within the next ten days. The company, in a statement issued last night, says: "Owing to the unfortunate death of the managing director, it is difficult for the directors at once to grapple with the financial position of the company without making minute inquiries and investigations as to the amount of liabilities and the securities held by the company."

"The general depression caused by the war has also added greatly to the difficulties of the situation, but it is expected that at the shareholders' meeting a plan with their financial arrangements. This may take the form of liquidation, when changes may be made in the management, and a competent receiver placed in charge. The working out of the company may take some little time, as it is difficult to realize at once upon even the best securities, but if financial conditions improve, as the directors hope, then there is every reason to believe that the voluntary liquidation will obtain the very best results."

"The business has been so large and voluminous that the securities are many, and it will take some little time to properly estimate their present value and also to realize upon them. It is expected that a large sum will be obtained by the company from the life insurance of the late Mr. Arnold, and there is also a bond of $250,000 filed with the minister of finance at Victoria, under the provisions of the Trust Act, which may be available in the final straightening out of the company's affairs."

"The directors wish the general public, who have been depositors, as well as the other creditors, to be as patient with the new management as possible, as every endeavor will be made to obtain the most competent man to undertake the winding-up of the estate, in order that the very most can be obtained from the realization of the securities. The liquidator will be assisted by an advisory committee of independent men who are not in any way connected with the company or its management."

"This result has been arrived at by the directors after a careful survey of the whole situation and after consulting with a committee of the strongest financial men in the city, representing the largest institutions, who are interested in seeing the very best results obtained and have come to the conclusion that this can best be done by voluntary liquidation."

It is stated that approximately the assets of the Dominion Trust are $5,000,000 and the liabilities $2,000,000. Officials of the company express the opinion that with time and careful management the liquidation ought to return an amount sufficient to pay off depositors and general creditors and clients. The Pender street head office of the company is closed to-day.

John Pitblado, a well known broker of Montreal, who is also a director of the company, has been here for several days assisting in making the arrangements. It has been suggested that he be appointed liquidator. He has had a long banking experience in eastern Canada.

GERMANS FORCED TO BRING NEW ARMIES TO RESIST ATTACKS

From Ostend to Verdun Tremendous Battle
Continues to Rage Between Gigantic Armies Without Great Advantage to Either Side

Paris Official Statement Shows That Germany Has Been Compelled to Send Very Young and Older Men to Firing Line

London, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Paris to Reuter's says that according to trustworthy accounts received at the French capital, fresh troops brought up by the Germans have enabled them to deliver new attacks on the French right wing where the battle has gone with alternate gains and losses.

For nearly a week now the combat has raged with unabated fury between forces up to the present time so equal in strength that the fronts have swayed back and forth without either being able to register a decisive victory. That the slaughter in these fierce efforts and counter efforts to break through the opposing lines transcends anything heretofore seen in this campaign is admitted on both sides.

Allies' Positions Are Maintained.

Paris, Oct. 23.—The official announcement given out at the war office this afternoon says:

"On our left wing the very considerable German forces, whose presence was reported yesterday, have continued very violent attacks in the entire region between the sea and the canal of Labassee."

"Generally speaking, the situation of the allied forces has been maintained. If the allies have had to yield at certain points they have advanced at others. The enemy also has evidenced great activity in the region of Arras and on the river Somme. To the north and to the south of this stream we have progressed, particularly in the region of Rosieres."

Partial Successes Gained in Sauterre.

"In Sauterre, in the region of Verdun, and in the region of Pont a Mousson, we have had some partial successes. On the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

"To sum up: The enemy appears to be undertaking, along the major part of the front and particularly between the North Sea and the Oise a new effort, making use of corps made up of new organizations. These are composed of men recently drilled, some of them very young, and others of middle age, and have staffs drawn from various parts of the army."

"Russia: To the south of the Pilica, the Germans still hold the Vistula river, with the exception of the line from Ivangorod to Kozielide. This they have abandoned, pursued by the Russians."

"All the efforts made by the Austrians to cross the river San to the north of Jaroslaw have been repulsed, and the Russians are undertaking the offensive in this region."

Jules Verne's Dream Comes True.

The struggle on the lengthened line extending into Belgium, now called the battle of Flanders, gave rise to an engagement along the coast near to the birthplace of Jules Verne, in which air craft and submarines participated, realizing for the first time, in the encounter, the dreams of the great Frenchman.

The British monitors offshore did great execution in the German trenches. Among those reported killed are General von Tripp and his staff. While the allies' airmen cleverly directed the aim of the marine guns, the German submarines lying in wait attacked the monitors, but without result because the latter were so far inshore.

Germans Fail to Turn Allies' Wings.

Here again, the critics remark that the attempts of the Germans to turn the allies' left and right on the French coast has been defeated, and the Germans have again been forced to resort to frontal attacks.

Gains made by the allies on the road to Metz, it is thought, must draw the attention of the Germans seriously to a quarter where they are menaced, not only from the direction of Verdun, but by the renewed success of the French on the eastern slope of the Vosges.

HIGHER RANK FOLLOWED TEN YEARS OF SERVICE

Minister of Militia Became Major-General Through Expiration to Time.

Ottawa, Oct. 23.—The promotion of Col. Sam Hughes to major-generalship officially announced at a late hour last night was, it is understood, decided on sometime ago, but the order-in-council confirming the appointment was only signed by his royal highness, the Duke of Connaught yesterday. It is explained in military circles that a colonel with ten years active service in the Canadian militia to his credit is entitled to become a major-general, and therefore the minister of militia, apart from his activities in connection with the Canadian overseas force is entitled to the promotion. Before the promotion of Col. Hughes and Col. Gwatkin, also announced last night, there were but two major-generals in the active military forces of Canada, Major-general Macdonald, who is in charge of the ordnance branch of the militia department and Major-general Lessard, in charge of the Toronto military district.

LATE NIGHT WAR NEWS

RICH AND POOR ALIKE

ENLIST FOR BRITAIN

Hundreds of Thousands Rush to Army to Fight Against Germany

(By T. P. O'Connor.)

London, Oct. 22.—The rich and the poor of Great Britain alike are enlisting for the war against Germany.

That Germany will be beaten nobody in Great Britain doubts the slightest. Earl Kitchener, who speaks with the caution and frugality of a soldier, and Winston Churchill, who has had some anxious moments, he avows, during the last few weeks, are equally emphatic in expressing the opinion that the final result of the war cannot be doubted by any reasonable man.

Arthur Henderson, who for the moment fills the place that Mr. Macdonald has left vacant as the leader of the Labor party, has sent his three sons to the war. Other political leaders are doing the same thing.

David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, has sent two sons to the war; so has Andrew Bonar Law, the Tory leader in the house of commons.

The peculiarity of this gigantic rush to the army is that it did not begin till the list of casualties began to appear in the papers. The slight pause there was when Lord Kitchener asked his first 100,000 men disappeared then and for ever. As many men as usually enlist in the course of a whole year; in ten days 300,000 men joined.

If you examine the lists and if you speak to the families of the recruits you find, too, astonishing examples of how this fever for the defence of the British Empire works upon every mind.

You see the recruits passing everywhere, through the streets, in the parks, sometimes in quiet nooks that never saw a soldier drilling before. These recruits are of an entirely different sort from those of ordinary times. Ordinary men join a voluntary army from love of adventure and from the hard necessities of their lives. The rural districts, with their narrow horizon and their joyless lives, naturally send their young men of spirit and adventure into the ranks.

The new armies which Great Britain is bringing into the field, though, are taken from all classes. Clerks have left their desks by the tens of thousands. Young gentlemen of wealth try to become officers, and when they cannot succeed in this, enlist in the ranks.

At a great nonpartisan meeting in Liverpool at which Winston Churchill, F. E. Smith, and myself spoke to 14,000 inside a great hall, there being triple that number outside clamoring for admission, Mr. Churchill announced that F. E. Smith was going to the front.

Now F. E. Smith at 49 years of age is earning the highest income at the bar of any man of his years. It is put down at $75,000 a year; sometimes it is as much as $5,000 in a single day. He has a wife he married for love when he had not a penny; and he will certainly be a cabinet minister of high rank whenever his party comes into power.

Nevertheless he goes to the front. I have heard of other instances in which men with ample fortunes, inherited from industrious fathers, have found an entire change of heart. Devoted to the war to the laborious but easy occupation of finding enjoyment in the usual way, motoring, flirting, playing polo, they have thrown all these things away and have gone to the front or to the drudgery of the drill ground.

You may have one view or the other of this war and of Great Britain's share in it, but no man who knows anything of the British Empire can doubt that there has never been a war which has made so powerful and irresistible an appeal to the imagination and to the patriotism of the British people.

PORTUGAL MONARCHISTS ATTEMPTED UPRISINGS

Lisbon, Oct. 22.—The monarchists of Portugal made attempts the nights of October 20 and 21 to effect uprisings. There were outbreaks at various places, especially in the northern part of Portugal, which for a time was cut off from telegraphic communications with Lisbon.

A sharp conflict took place at Maire between 100 civilians and republican troops.

The civilians were led by a lieutenant, who seized the arsenal. The troops were victorious. An insurgent band, numbering 200 men was pursued to the mountains.

Portions of the railroad track at Santarem and Mafra were torn up and trains were derailed. A colonel and two sergeants were arrested at Santarem and many monarchists were taken into custody in Lisbon.

GERMAN GENERAL STAFF CHIEF REPORTED DYING

London, Oct. 22.—A private letter received from Amsterdam from a high official in Berlin says Lieut.-General Count Helmuth von Moltke, chief of the German general staff, is dying, according to the Exchange Telegraph's Amsterdam correspondent.

"Everything," the correspondent adds, "is being done to keep the news secret. Gen. von Moltke is suffering from an affection of the liver. The cure he was undergoing was interrupted in July on account of mobilization."

Many German officers ascribe the check of the German advance to the enforced retirement of General von Moltke.

WHOEVER HOLDS LILLE

POSSESSES ONLY RUIN

Bombardment From French and German Guns Has Destroyed All Buildings

London, Oct. 22.—"Lille is a mass of ruins and ashes," says the Daily Telegraph's Boulogne correspondent, who left that city on Wednesday.

"On Monday evening numbers of Germans entered the town. The bombardment ceased, but distant firing was still heard south of the town until 1 o'clock in the morning.

"About midnight the news was given out that the white flag had been hoisted on the town hall, but at 2 o'clock the firing recommenced and continued for over three hours. Evidently the French were making a last attempt on the border to win, unfortunately without success.

"Later military music was heard. The Germans entered the town to the tune of the life and drum. The troops were singing hymns. Most of them were very gay and smoked big black cigars as they marched along.

"Meanwhile aeroplanes, flying the German flag flew ahead of the columns, announcing to the city the occupation by the Germans. At daybreak the inhabitants began to leave, for the most part fleeing towards Roubaix. Those who traveled to Boulogne heard reports later that the Germans the next day commenced withdrawing from Lille.

"Whoever now holds Lille, it is a wrecked city. Flames have completed the work of bombardment. The city's biggest quarter, including the station, prefecture and most important commercial houses, was a prey to the flames.

"The fire raged most fiercely along the Rue de Paris, due Melmel, de Bethune, de L'Hopital Militaire and Du Plat. Among the buildings destroyed were the Grand hotel and the Grand Pharmacie de France.

"When the Germans entered they organized a fire brigade and sent for aid to Tourcoing. The local firemen earlier had been discouraged from fighting the flames by reason of the danger from German shells, which killed the fire captain and three firemen.

"Several of the historic monuments of the city were hit by shells, and others were destroyed by the flames. Among the many damaged churches that of St. Maurice suffered most, both naves being destroyed.

"Few of the inhabitants of the city had much idea of what the situation was, for most of them kept closely to the cellars.

"A party of German Uhlans rode into Lille unopposed last Sunday, but while demanding hostages of the mayor, they were attacked by French cavalry. The Germans retired after several had been killed.

"About sunset a German shell burst over the town hall, penetrating the roof and starting a panic in all parts of the city. The streets were full of frightened men and women. A few minutes later a second shell killed a boy and injured his mother in a street near the prefecture.

"By 7 o'clock in the evening the bombardment was violent, and large numbers of people fled from the city. The museum of fine arts and the Hotel Bellevue fell victims to the flames.

"On Monday the city was a pitiful sight. Several blocks of houses were in flames. The streets in the centre of the city were a mass of ruins, and all the suburban roads were badly damaged."

GENERAL VON TRIPP AND STAFF DIE IN BATTLE

London, Oct. 22.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from Flushing says: "Wednesday night and to-day the Germans made a violent attack on the environs of Ostend, which was repulsed by an energetic counter attack by the Belgians."

"Eleven British warships fired on the Germans again this morning. General von Tripp and his staff, who were together in Lettinghe near Middelkerke, were killed by British naval guns."

The philanthropist too often surrounds mankind with the remembrance of his own cast-off griefs as an atmosphere, and calls it sympathy. We should impart our courage and not our despair.—Thoreau.

Had Nervous Dyspepsia

With Frequent Sick Headaches and Much Pain After Eating — Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Cured.

This letter is from a lady who gained 14 pounds by using the great food cure. It did wonders for her in improving her general health. She is enthusiastic in its praise, and refers to her neighbors as witnesses of the splendid results obtained.

Mrs. Susan Dobson, Spring Hill Mines, N. S., writes: "It is with pleasure that I write to you in praise of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I was troubled with dyspepsia, and could not eat without suffering much pain; also had sick headaches frequently, and my nerves were in bad condition. About ten years ago I took a thorough treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, using altogether 21 boxes, and since then I can eat anything, have been freed from headaches, and my health has been greatly improved in every way. I gained 14 pounds in weight, and feel sure I owe everything to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You may use this letter, and my neighbors can tell you of my condition before using this treatment."

LONG RANGE GUNS OF

NAVY SHELL GERMANS

Vice-Admiral Beatty Tells of Attack on Cruisers of Germany

London, Oct. 22.—The four-day bombardment of the German positions along the coast in northern France by British warships, whose fire is directed by captive balloons, was reviewed in the following admiralty statement tonight:

"On October 18, requests for naval assistance were made to the admiralty by the allied commanders. In consequence a naval flotilla, mounting a large number of powerful long-range guns, came into action at daybreak on the 19th, off the Belgian coast, supporting the left of the Belgian army, and firing against the right of the German attack, which they were, by their position, able to enfilade.

"The Germans replied by shells from their heavy guns, but, owing to the superior range of the British marine artillery, practically no damage has been done.

"Three monitors, which were building for Brazil and were acquired on the outbreak of the war, have proved particularly suited to this class of operations. A heavy bombardment on the German flank has been maintained without intermission since the morning of the 19th, and is being continued today.

"Observation is arranged from shore by means of naval balloons, and all reports indicate that the substantial losses have been inflicted upon the enemy, and the fire is well directed and effective against his batteries and heavy guns.

"Yesterday a considerable explosion, probably of an ammunition wagon, followed upon a navy shot. The naval losses have so far been very small, considering the damage inflicted and the important assistance rendered to the Belgian left flank.

"A reports received by the admiralty show the courage with which the Belgian army, animated by the king in person, is defending the last few miles of Belgian soil.

"The naval operations are under the command of Rear-Admiral Hon. Horace L. A. Hood.

The reports of Vice-Admiral Sir David Beatty, Rear-Admiral Arthur Henry Christian and other officers of the British navy who took part in the battle off Heligoland, show that the Germans did not succeed in destroying any of the British ships, but that before the arrival of the cruisers, the situation, in the words of Vice-Admiral Beatty, appeared critical. It was in that battle that the three German cruisers, the Mainz, Koeln and the Ariadne and two German destroyers were sunk.

The British fleet, when it went into action was only 25 miles from two German naval bases, and the ships were manoeuvred in the hope of bringing the main fleet out, but without success. The British, however, were attacked by submarines, destroyers and light cruisers, and one British cruiser, the Arctura, which had only been out of the builders' hands 48 hours, was rather severely handled, and after the action was over had to be taken in tow.

Vice-Admiral Beatty commanded the first battle cruiser squadron and first light cruiser squadron, while Rear-Admiral Christian commanded the destroyers and the Arctura.

A special report was issued last night on the work of submarines since the commencement of the war. It says three hours after the war broke out, two submarines, unaccompanied, carried out a reconnaissance in Heligoland Bight and returned with useful information.

Submarines also stood guard night and day while the expeditionary force was being transported to the continent, the report says, and have been incessantly employed on the enemy's coast in Heligoland Bight and elsewhere, and have obtained much valuable information regarding the composition and movements of his patrols. They have occupied his waters and reconnoitered his shores, and while so engaged have been subjected to skilful and well-executed anti-submarine tactics, hunted for hours at a time by torpedo craft and attacked by gun fire and torpedoes.

Submarines took part in the Heligoland battle, but conditions were not favorable, the visibility being low and the sea calm, and no opportunity occurred of closing with the German cruisers to within torpedo range.

Reference is made to the E-9's sinking of the German cruiser Helld and the destroyer S-126. Dealing generally with the use of these craft, the report says: "Against an enemy whose capital ships have never, and whose light cruisers have seldom, emerged from their fortified harbors, the opportunities of delivering submarine attacks have necessarily been few, and on one occasion only—prior to September 13—has one of our submarines been within torpedo range of a cruiser during daylight hours."

A large number of officers are recommended for orders and promotion, and Commander Max Horton, of the E-9, for both.

BELGIAN REFUGEES ARE LANDED AT LA ROCHELLE

La Rochelle, France, Oct. 22.—Steamers arriving here from Calais are bringing thousands of Belgian refugees. One vessel last night brought 1,775. The refugees are greeted with the utmost kindness by the people here, who supply warm dinners and lodgings. The Belgians are being distributed among places in the interior according to a plan made by the government. The railways are carrying them without charge.

GERMANS FLED BEFORE
CHARGE OF BAYONET

Enemy Long Way From Channel Ports; Von Kluck
is Hard Pressed

London, Oct. 22.—The special correspondent of the Daily Express has telegraphed the following from a point in northern France:

"The fighting may now be described as squeezing the German right wing and an effort to bring about the downfall of General von Kluck by tremendous pressure on his flanks. I use the name of General von Kluck with reserve, because, like General von Hausen and the other German commanders, he may have already fallen a victim to the caprice of the Kaiser and been superseded.

"A week ago the Germans were perilously near the Channel ports, but a week has vastly changed the situation. To-day the Germans are a long way from the ports. They are fighting strictly defensive actions, with occasional fierce counter-attacks, but not a single one of these attacks has been successful. The allied forces have been pressing forward relentlessly on the main front of the enemy, driving him back, and on the right flank he is being ceaselessly harried.

"I am told that in the recent fighting the Germans literally bolted before the bayonet, throwing down their guns and equipment and abandoning their machine guns, with no other thought but to save their skins.

"The situation is now such that the Germans may be compelled to join issue in the great engagement in the open country. They have already lost some of their most valuable lines of communication through Belgium. They have lost Ypres, a centre of the greatest strategic value, commanding the roads of northwest Belgium, and their right wing is therefore in such a position that only success in the great battle can save them."

VON KLUCK IS UNABLE TO BREAK ALLIES' FRONT

Russian Victory Near Warsaw Prevents Germans Sending Reinforcements West.

London, Oct. 22.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says that, although General von Kluck now has on his Belgian front the advantage of a practically complete system of railway communication, there is no sign, after the hard fighting of the last few days of any breach in the allies' line, the powerful arm of which will be evident to any one who follows closely the official bulletins. At the village of Radighem, the front has reached within six miles of Lille.

One doubt of the last few days, the correspondent says, has been whether a striking success in Poland would enable the German commanders to send back reinforcements to their Belgian positions. The battle of Warsaw appears to cut out that possibility. At the eastern end of the long French line, a dangerous German movement at St. Mihiel, on the Meuse, seems to be definitely contained.

FORTS OF ANTWERP ARE

Belgian Locomotives Collected at Ostend to Be Used for Retreating.

London, Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Rotterdam to the Star says: "The movements of the German troops westward from Antwerp has left only a few hundred men in the town. The last batch left yesterday morning and most of the great forts are now without guards. German wounded from the front are being quartered at the zoo.

"A traveller who has just left the city says that some one restored the bell belonging to the town hall and the Germans did not bother to take it down. The whole Belgian coast is now deserted by the population, the military being in sole possession. "At Ostend more than 100 Belgian locomotives have been collected."

The correspondent says that they are for use in a retreat.

WIRELESS REPORT SAYS
LANDSTURM NOT NEEDED

Berlin, Oct. 23, by wireless.—The general in command of the German seventh army corps, it was stated officially in Berlin to-day, has declared that the calling of the landsturm is unnecessary as enormous numbers of the landwehr were still available. Nor has it yet been necessary to call out volunteers.

According to information given out in Berlin to-day, the number of Belgians returning to Antwerp is increasing as a result of the good treatment accorded them by the German authorities in possession of the city.

VIOLENCE ACCOMPANIES
PORT ANGELES STRIKE

Port Angeles, Wash., Oct. 23.—Striking shingle weavers at the Sound mills and timber company's mill attacked C. M. Peabody, son of a member of the firm of Peabody, Houghteling & Company, Chicago, financiers, who have floated bonds of the mill company, and threw him into Port Angeles bay, from which he was rescued and is in a dangerous condition. Peabody refused to go out with the strikers. The culprits are out on $250 bonds. This is the second violence shown since the strike, the first being the beating of Richard Schallhorn on Wednesday.

COWICHAN PATRIOTIC
SUBSCRIPTION $2,142

Government Will Not Start
Courthouse Although Employment is Needed

Duncan, Oct. 22.—The Cowichan Patriotic fund has now reached $2,142.75. A total of $742.75 was contributed during the past week. At a concert held under the auspices of the Duncan Ivy Rebekah lodge on Monday night $170 was raised for patriotic purposes.

To help relieve the lack of unemployment among married men the Duncan city council has resolved to employ only married men on any work undertaken until conditions brighten.

The city has undertaken the installation of an eight-ton public weigh scale. This is chiefly for the benefit of the farming community surrounding.

The public works department of the provincial government are calling for tenders for the construction of the new court house at Duncan, the money for which was appropriated some time ago. The Duncan board of trade and the city council recently made representations to the government that the building be started this fall in order to relieve the labor situation. A reply was received to the effect that owing to unforeseen circumstances the building would not be started this winter.

KITCHENER DISGUISED
AS WOUNDED SOLDIER

London Expects Visit of Zeppelins but is Not Greatly Alarmed.

Winnipeg, Oct. 22.—H. G. White, consul for the Peruvian government at Vancouver, reached Winnipeg to-day on his way home from London. He says that Lord Kitchener returned from his trip to France disguised as a wounded soldier. He says that wire netting has been placed over and around the London post office and many other buildings in the capital to protect them against bombs. He tells of the darkness of the streets of London, which are black at night, and how the sky is momentarily scoured with flashes of searchlights on the lookout for Zeppelins.

"It is fully believed in London," said Mr. White, "that an attack will be attempted by Zeppelins, but there is no great feeling of apprehension on this score. It is expected that the foggy weather at this time will make such an attempt impossible, and at the same time they are fully prepared for the Germans."

"My brother-in-law is in the intelligence office," said Mr. White, "and I got my first hand information from him about Kitchener's clever disguise when crossing the channel. This fact is little known."

DUKE OF ROXBURGH WOUNDED

Filled, Crowned, Extracted
Without Pain

By a scientific, harmless system I anaesthetize the teeth themselves so that there is absolutely no feeling in them; meanwhile every other part of the body retains its normal sense. I use no gas; you have nothing to inhale; I use no injurious drugs—there are no bad after-effects. While the teeth are thus numbed, I remove every particle of decay and place my filling or crowns so accurately that they will last a life-time.

cost very little. I will make you a plate which will look like and do the service of your natural teeth, restoring the original contour and expression of your mouth, at an expense within the reach of the most humble. I also make these plates of gold, silver and porcelain, with a price varying as to the amount of material used.

A FIT GUARANTEED.

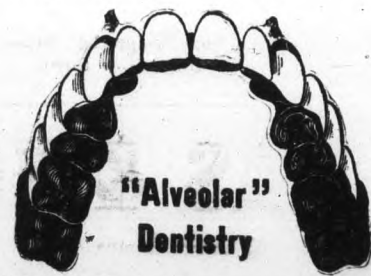

No trouble to show you sample and explain my new system of "pressure equalization," the acme of plate success.

Bridge Work

Is the best and most satisfactory system of replacing the lost or broken-down teeth when you have the required support.

One tooth will support a very small bridge. Two teeth will carry a comparatively large bridge, and three or more are necessary for the anchorage of a full set.
This work, being made from porcelain, backed up with solid gold, or all-solid gold, must, of necessity, cost more than plate work, but its success and durability is likewise greater in proportion. No trouble to show you samples of this high-class work.

"Alveolar" Dentistry

The new and successful system of replacing the lost teeth where it is impossible to wear a bridge, and without the use of a plate. This work requires two or more healthy, natural teeth, which act as a stay and guide to the "alveolar" teeth, and are themselves preserved from future trouble and decay by the "alveolar" work.
This work is made of either solid gold, solid porcelain, or the two in combination. It is sanitary, strong and durable, and must be seen to be appreciated.

SPECIAL PRICES FOR OCTOBER. MY FEES ARE THE LOWEST

I conduct my practice on correct business principles, buying nothing but the best of material, purchasing directly from the factory in large quantities lots, taking advantage of all cash discounts, and in every way enabling myself to give you the very best Dentistry at a price from half to a third less than others who do work of equal merit.

THE WAR.

The French official bulletin reports that the Germans have brought strong reinforcements into the firing line in Northern France and Belgium, who are attacking desperately from La Bassée southwest of Lille to the sea. The direction of the front is not given and we only can surmise it from the press reports, most of which emanate from Holland. If the allies still hold Roulers and Thourout their line would run northward from around Lille, some twenty-five miles; from there it would turn westward twelve miles to Dixmude and then a little northwest to the coast somewhere in the vicinity of Middelkerke, where the Germans are menaced by the fleet. But we are not certain that the allies still hold Thourout or even Roulers. At some points the French bulletin admits they have given ground while at others they have advanced. The accession of fresh strength to the Germans may have caused the abandonment of some positions north of Lille, to be counteracted by definite gains along the coast. This would explain the report from Amsterdam that the Germans were retreating from Middelkerke, a few miles below Ostend.

The German reinforcements consist of newly-drilled young men and others of middle age. This indicates that the Germans have been compelled to draw upon their last source of supply. These reinforcements can be met by fresh arrivals of better trained men from Britain and the French reserves. The attempts of the allies to recapture Lille have failed so far, but we do not anticipate that they will give much ground, if any, at this point. The British soldiers who are engaged there are not of the ground-giving variety. Apparently the Indian troops have not yet taken part in the battle. This is gathered from an observation from Earl Crewe on Tuesday, and the reason advanced for keeping them off the firing line is that they are being given time in which to become acclimated. Another reason, no doubt, is that they are being held in reserve for a decisive stroke.

We do not believe the Germans seriously contemplated the use of the sea-coast of Belgium and northwest France as a base for military operations against Great Britain for a long time. In the first place they would have to destroy the British fleet, an engagement with which they consistently have avoided in pursuance of their "higher strategy"; secondly, they could not spare even a hundred thousand men for such an adventure, and even if they could the invaders would have to accomplish the miracle of walking across the channel. An entertaining dispatch from Copenhagen says that the Germans are constructing thirty transports for use against Britain—thirty transports which would never get beyond Heligoland and which, if they did, would be unable to land more than enough men to cope with the London Metropolitan police force.

The real object of the Germans in endeavoring to gain a foothold at Dunkirk more likely is to enable them to straighten out a front extending from the North Sea to Metz. Unless their extreme right rested on the coast it would be in danger of being turned by the allies, who are constantly in receipt of reinforcements. A line from Mons along the Sambre and then along the Meuse across to Metz would not be tenable if the allies had an open road into Belgium, along the French and Belgian coasts. But there is an even more vital consideration at stake. Belgium in the possession of the allies menaces Germany even more than its possession by the Germans menaces France. The great industrial cities of the Rhine—such as Essen and Düsseldorf—are only a few miles from the Belgian frontier, and as von Bernhardi accomodatingly pointed out, they are particularly vulnerable to attack by any power which establishes itself in King Albert's country. Germany, therefore, desires to convert Belgium into an outer defence of Westphalia. Her engineers are rebuilding the fortifications of Antwerp as they have restored the defensive works of Liege and Namur in Belgium and Maubeuge in France, south of Mons. But this scheme cannot be complete without the permanent occupation of a strongly fortified point on the sea, and Dunkirk most necessarily answers the description. Failure to establish themselves on the sea coast is now a serious matter, not to the German offensive, but to the German defensive.

Further developments of the Russian victory in front of Warsaw may be looked for. Evidently the German front from the Polish capital to Ivangorod has received a severe set-back and the retreat now in progress may become a rout if the Russians are able to pursue their advantage. What effect this will have upon the rest of the German-Austrian line a few days will tell. It should throw back the Germans extending as far south as Sandomir, thereby giving the Russians an opening to cut them off from the armies operating along the San and south of Przemyśl, in Galicia. The Kaiser is reported to have changed his headquarters from a point in Russian Poland to a locality in Silesia, which would indicate his appreciation of the check sustained by his forces. According to Belin the German army in East Prussia has attempted to resume the offensive. The purpose of this undoubtedly is to save the retreating German front in Poland by a diversion, but it cannot be in sufficient force to affect the issue. A complete Russian victory along the Vistula would mean the commencement of an invasion of Germany from the east in earnest, and the situation would have undergone a decided change. Germany is actually now being invaded through Belgium in the west and also in Alsace.

"TO THE TOP OF THEIR BENT."

Britons are chuckling over the highly expert manner in which their government dealt with the German spy system, as disclosed in a report recently issued by the official bureau. Since 1911 the Berlin authorities have been endeavoring to ascertain the fullest information concerning the defences of the United Kingdom. Adopting the policy of Frederick the Great, they expended enormous sums in maintaining an army of spies all over Great Britain. To deal with this energetic espionage the British Home Office, in conjunction with the Admiralty and War Office, organized a special secret intelligence branch, which did its work so thoroughly that in a very short time the German agents, unknown to themselves or in fact to the British people, were under complete surveillance. No attempt was made to stop the spying operations, but the authorities occupied, and, we imagine, amused themselves by watching the unsuspecting Prussian operatives as a parent watches through the window curtain the children playing in the yard. The official report states that in spite of their enormous efforts and expenditures the Germans obtained practically no information of value. Although, of course, the bureau does not say so, we are convinced that a great deal of what the Germans did obtain and for which they spent money lavishly was specially prepared by the authorities themselves. Occasionally in order not to arouse suspicion at Berlin arrests were made of individuals charged with spying and they were sentenced to imprisonment, but, generally speaking, the intelligence branch preferred to give the spies plenty of latitude so that their operations might be an open book to them.

When the war began the thoroughness and promptitude with which the authorities descended upon the Kaiser's army of spies must have staggered them beyond description. For years they had reported to Berlin that the British were so dull-witted that Britain was a spy's paradise. They had earned the commendations of their chiefs by sending plans which, unknown of course to them, had been cooked for their especial benefit. They had been furnished with all kinds of spurious information which afforded Potsdam much gratification. Their amazement when they found the spacious field in which they had been permitted to play suddenly barred around them can be quite understood. They were gathered in by the hundreds within a few hours. The agents who believed themselves the most secure were among the first to be taken. So complete was the clean-up that the German general staff did not know as late as August 21 that the British expeditionary force had left England, although it was common knowledge in the country itself and one newspaper was indiscreet enough to publish the fact.

Thus in respect of their system of espionage the inability of the Germans to see any capacity, intelligence or merit in a prospective enemy has been their undoing. The same fatal defect is evident in other directions. They regarded the allied armies as mere children in arms alongside their "thoroughly" trained automata; they held the Russians as beneath contempt. They are learning by degrees a lesson they never will forget. Within a week of the outbreak of war they learned that instead of deceiving the British authorities their high-priced spies had served no other purpose than to entertain, at their own expense, the particular department entrusted with the exhilarating task of keeping them under surveillance. They were the easiest marks the British secret service department ever had to deal with.

MADE IN VICTORIA EXHIBIT

The Made in Victoria exhibition at the drill hall deserves the unstinted patronage of the public. Its sole object is to convince the consumers of Victoria of the excellence of locally manufactured products and the calibre of the establishments which produce them. It is one of the frailties of most communities to imagine that importations, for some mysterious reason, are better than goods produced at home, an impression created largely by the publicity obtained by far-sighted, energetic promoters of outside establishments.

The committee in charge of the Made in Victoria display are endeavoring to correct that impression, and we think they will succeed. But they must continue their campaign to such an extent that the name of a Victoria-made article will spring readily to the mind of the purchaser when he or she enters a store. Buyers as a rule give their orders hurriedly and have no time to linger and ransack their memories for the names of brands turned out in this city. These names must become household terms, and when they are there will be a growing demand for the goods they represent. There are names of certain German-made products with which even children are familiar. These should be the first to feel the effect of the new campaign. We wish the movement so auspiciously inaugurated by our manufacturers every success.

THOROUGHNESS AND LOGIC.

Germans have a reputation for thoroughness and, in material things, for logic. They devastate the countries they invade, destroy sacred edifices, ancient homes of learning and splendid architectural landmarks. They drop bombs on unfortified towns, killing women and children. They defend these practices on the ground that they are the logical expressions of a savage business and the inevitable outcome of a national disposition to thoroughness. But in thoroughness and logic they fall because both tendencies have been misdirected. They are thorough in destroying and logical in defending wanton destruction, but not in building up. The homicidal maniac who stamps upon his victim after he has destroyed him is just as thorough and logical, but even in Germany he is put out of the way. According to the German theory, the seven hundred million people against whom the Germanic combination is fighting would be justified in carrying on this war until not a solitary structure or a single inhabitant is left within the boundaries of the two monarchies. This, of course, is unthinkable, the negation of civilization, yet it would be consistent with the doctrine of Trietschke.

The German case has not even the merit of consistency. When the war began the exponents of primitive "culture" said the upheaval originated in barbaric Russia. Then France was charged with being the instigator from motives of revenge. Now the villains of the tragedy are Great Britain and Belgium, who put their heads together to accomplish the ruin of the Fatherland. Of course nobody outside of Germany and Austria pays any attention to these trades, but they sadly impair the German reputation for logic and consistency. If Russia brought about the war, none of the other nations of the entente can be the head of the conspiracy. If Great Britain was the parent of the unholy brood, neither Russia nor France can be charged with responsibility for it. If the Germans themselves cannot give some logical information concerning the identity of the villain of which she is the distressed victim, how can she expect the world to credit the equally illogical denial that she herself is the head and front of the whole affair?

TO-DAY'S SUMMARY.

The Germans and the allies continue their desperate game of give and take in West Flanders and Northeastern France to-day, neither side claiming a decisive advantage.

French warships are said to have joined the British naval forces forming the extreme left of the allies and fresh German reinforcements are reported constantly coming up. Not since the opening of the war have the warring forces appeared to have been so evenly matched.

The allied war craft in the Straits of Dover are shelling the German right without stopping the onslaughts of the German land forces. The allied armies have gained ground at several points and have been forced to fall back at others.

This afternoon's French official statement says that violent attacks are being made by the Germans all along the line from the sea to the canal Labassee. They also have delivered heavy blows in the region of Arras and on the river Somme. Generally the allies have held their own, though pushed back from some positions. They have progressed to the north and south of the river Senne and in the region of Verdun and Pont-a-Mousson.

The Germans appear to be making a new effort with new organizations between the North Sea and the Oise.

Paris learns unofficially that fresh troops have given a new impetus to the German attack on the French right wing.

Russian advances continue to insist that the German advance on Warsaw has been turned into a retreat. It is admitted, however, that Germans and Austrians still hold the Vistula south of the Pilica river. Berlin and Vienna report Austrian successes south of Przemyśl.

A dispatch from Peking says that a German torpedo-boat destroyer which escaped from Kiau Chau Bay was captured by warships of the allies.

New York newspapers are publishing very full and interesting accounts of the progress of the war, but the most attractive features of the columns of these journals at the present time are the contributions of correspondents of German sympathies. For instance, one Teuton, feeling that something must be said in defence of the conduct of his fatherland, explains to the Sun that dropping bombs upon cities, whether defended or undefended, and killing or mutilating women and children, really is an act of the highest humanity. It contains a plain intimation to the inhabitants that the safest thing for them to do is to go off somewhere and hide, themselves until the war is over. If they happen to cross the path of the Germans when they are marching to world domination that is their misfortune. Another patriot writes to the Herald asking, "Who cares who started the war? If England is blown off the face of the earth the war will be perfectly justified."

GERMANY AND BELGIUM.

Chicago Tribune.

The German defence for its invasion of Belgium seems to be as mobile as its wonderful army. The most loyal program must "move lively" to keep up with it. As we have understood the German position, it is about like this: In the first place Germany invaded Belgium because necessity knows no law, and, regretting the wrong done her and Luxemburg, compensation would later be given. Second, Germany invaded Belgium because it was certain that France would invade Belgium to attack Germany. Third, Germany invaded Belgium because France had invaded Belgium first. Fourth, and latest, Germany's invasion of Belgium was not a breach of neutrality, because Belgium was not neutral, but had entered into a plot with England to help her in an attack on Germany. Doubtless in due time the reason why Germany invaded Belgium will become clear and settled, even in Germany. In the meantime the world will continue to sympathize profoundly with the unhappy Belgian people, and attempts to fix upon them, or even their government, responsibility for their tragic misfortunes will have to be sustained by the most indubitable of proofs if they are not to react against the German appeal to the world conscience.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

Victoria Times, October 23, 1889.

At the meeting of the aldermanic board this evening Alderman McMillan will move that a sum not exceeding $5,000 be voted by the board for the reaping of His Excellency the Governor-General.

After doing service for many years the wooden cisterns on the corners of Government and Johnson streets and Biore and Johnson streets have partially rotted away. It is deemed advisable that for protection against fire larger and better cisterns should be constructed. Accordingly two new brick cisterns with a capacity of 50,000 gallons will shortly be built at the above-named corners.

The tramway poles are up, rails are being laid, and the powerhouse is approaching completion.

Dr. M. Callanan, of this city, licentiate of the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland, having complied with the regulations of the B. C. Medical Act, has been admitted to practice in this province.

CROWDS AGAIN ATTEND

THE PUBLIC MARKET

Fair Weather Favored Now
Popular Institution and Produce Sold Rapidly

More crowded than ever before the public market this morning re-emphasized in even stronger terms the fact that it is an established institution. The genial weather added much to to-day's success.

All morning the market teemed with buyers, and from an early hour the eager visitors who streamed through the gates were met by earlier shoppers already leaving with laden baskets of fresh vegetables and fruit.

Parcels of celery were sprouts of tender green showing at the top, string-bags through which pink-cheeked apples and furry quinces could be seen, and go-carts with their double burden of babies and provisions. An atmosphere of bustle on the part of busy stall-holders whose stands were pressed round by patrons, was vividly contrasted with the calm leisure of idle groups of visitors who chatted about the weather, the war, crops, politics, and what not in the quieter parts of the market square. For, as prophesied from the beginning, the market has become what markets are the wide Dominion over, a rendezvous where farmer can meet farmer, and citizen citizen.

In its general aspect the market changes little now that the public have fully grasped the idea, but each Friday brings its new faces, and in addition to the lumbering pedestrian there now rolls in among the farmers' carts standing at the curb outside the gates the luxurious motor car of the more prosperous housewife.

Practically nothing new was being shown this morning, last Friday's market having covered a wide field in the way of provisions. Quantities of poultry were again for sale, bringing, according to the age, feeding and demand, from 20c per pound up to 25c.

Cowichan producers sent in some very salmon, non-cured, at 10c per pound, and fresh pork was selling at the same rate for 10c per pound. The Cloverdale farmer who has made such fame as a celery producer handed out the crisp stalks as rapidly as they could be tied together, a touch of additional color being furnished at his stand by the little bunches of radishes selling at 5 cents each. Watercress at the same price sold quickly at the stand of a Gordon Head producer, where customers were assured of a constant supply of Neapolitan violets all through the winter. His collection also included greenhouse cucumbers at ten and fifteen cents apiece.

Rabbits, both dressed and undressed, were being sold again this morning. Undressed the prices ranged from twenty cents per pound up, and commanded a ready sale. The demand for eggs and butter was as keen as ever, the former bringing fifty-five cents in most cases, and the latter forty-five cents per pound. A Royal Oak farmer, who has good business instincts sold dozens of ten-cent bags of Brussels sprouts, and explained very convincingly the advantages of dairy-fed pork (of which she carries every week a good supply) over the average kind. The Rocky Point farmer who has become so well-known for his home-grown potatoes sold off six lambs in less than an hour this morning.

Twenty-three cents per pound for hind-quarters and sixteen cents per pound for fore-quarters. Milk-fed chickens at the same stall were selling for twenty-five cents a pound.

Old-fashioned snow apples, which are delicious eating, were seen at one stall at 25 cents per basket, and nice smooth spuds were purchasable at $1.25 per 100-pound sack. A Cedar Hill producer announced about 10 o'clock that he had disposed of 100 pounds of tomatoes, about seven boxes of hothouse grapes (at 25 cents per basket), several big milk-fed chickens and quantities of other things.

Behind the Cowichan Valley sign were two stalls which did a most successful business. The Island Product company, which makes a specialty of home-cured meats and home-cooked hams, meat pies, cakes, etc., had sold out its complete supply of over 200 pounds of cooked foot by 10 o'clock. The Cowichan Creamery representative, who occupied the other stall, sold a quantity of mutton, and crab apples, quinces and Gravenstein apples. Other farmers were represented in large numbers, several selling out soon after arriving and giving place to later arrivals who were without stalls.

County Court Rules.—A new edition of the county court rules has been issued from the office of the king's printer, and will be ready for distribution to the legal profession and the public after Monday next.

Registration for Night Schools.—The registrations for night schools for the classes which open on Monday have been coming in most satisfactorily, and the school board officials are hopeful that most of the classes will be filled.

HOW WE HELP

THE RETAILER

Every time this newspaper prints the advertising of a standard article it is helping the retailers who handle that product.

It is to the interest of retailers that a newspaper should increase its general advertising—because it stimulates business at their stores.

People like to see the goods they read about in the newspapers.

If price and quality suits them they will buy.

Every sale means a customer and a profit to the retailer.

Retailers help their home newspaper and help themselves when they push these goods.

It is co-operation profitable alike to the dealer, the manufacturer, the newspaper and the consumer.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE.

Robbery With Violence is Alleged Against Peter Thompson; Informant's Story.

Robbery with violence is charged against Peter Thompson, who is alleged to have stolen some $40 in cash from the person of H. Hansen, using force to prevent resistance. The case was not concluded in the police court this morning, the city prosecutor announcing that he had one more witness to bring. A remand until tomorrow was ordered. The accused pleaded not guilty and consented to trial before the magistrate.

H. Hansen, the alleged victim, swore that he lived in a fishing boat at the outer wharf. Yesterday he had come into town, and had had a few drinks at the Grand Central bar. Not having taken liquor for some time, it had made him sick and he had gone out into an alleyway. At the time he had $40 in paper money on his person and an extra dollar to meet running expenses. He had paid for a drink for the accused. When he, the informant, left the bar, Thompson had followed him, and, holding him helpless with one hand, robbed him scientifically and completely with the other.

Later he had gone round to nearly all the bars in town to find Thompson, and finally located him at the Queen's hotel, subsequently handing him over to the police.

Fred Routledge, bartender of the Grand Central hotel, told of seeing Thompson holding Hansen, and when he, Routledge, expostulated, Thompson had shut the door in his face. He also told the court that Thompson in the morning had come and asked for a drink, but was refused because he had no money.

Constable Bishop, who made the arrest, explained that he found $21.55 on the person of the accused when searched. He had found him at the corner of Johnson and Government streets.

The City Prosecutor said he would to-morrow call a witness who would show that the accused paid his board account yesterday shortly before the arrest.

Fixing Amounts.—Greater part of the time of Judge Lampman this forenoon was taken up in the fixing, with counsel, of the terms of the order to be made in the case of the liens which he has decided lie in favor of contractors and supply houses, in connection with the transformation of the premises now occupied by the Brown Jug Inn from their former commercial uses. The matter came before the court early in the week on an application by Alexis Martin, on behalf of Coates and Fleet, architects, and the morning he and counsel for the several plaintiffs in the consolidated action who were awarded set sums submitted drafts of the orders they wished made. Those will be consolidated in one general order after consultation with H. G. Lawson and C. G. White, for the defendants. The order will, among things, direct the registrar to take an account of the cost of the building, including therein the sums already found by the court to be due certain of the plaintiffs, and this will fix the amounts due to the others as well as fix the total sum upon which the architects are entitled to their five per cent. commission.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

When the bronchial tubes are affected with that weakening, tickling cough, they need immediate and sensible treatment. The breath seems shorter because of mucous obstructions; usually fever is present and your head jars with every cough. Your chest aches and the inflammation often spreads to the lungs.

The food- tonic that has proven its worth for forty years—is Scott's Emulsion. It drives out the cold, which is the root of the trouble, and checks the cough by aiding the healing process of the enfeebled membranes.

If you are troubled with bronchitis, know an afflicted friend, always remember that Scott's Emulsion builds strength while relieving the trouble.

That's the End of Him!

"Dog-gone him!" So said the farmer as he slaughtered a hawk with his shotgun and a three-cent cartridge.

As he looked at the dead bird, he found that he had another "think" coming: "This bird may have had two of my chickens, worth two-bits apiece, which puts me half a dollar on the wrong side. But in the course of a year the same bird would destroy at least one vermin per day, including Sundays—each of which would eat more than a cent's worth of my grain. This makes 365 cents to the credit of the dead bird and puts me $3.15 out of my first calculation."

It's the same way with the man who sends East, South or West for the goods which he can get in his own town—just as good in quality, just as high in finish. But simply because of the immediate saving of a few dollars, HE SHOOTS THE BIRD!

Three hundred and sixty thousand dollars per annum are distributed in wages to one industry alone in Victoria at the present time, and, based upon a careful estimate, two hundred thousand dollars are sent to other points for the same class of work.

If this $200,000 was spent in Victoria, the one industry alone would support 120 additional men; giving an average of five persons to the family, means an increase of 600 in population—all of them to be fed and clothed by goods for which the greater part of the $200,000 is spent with the local store-keeper.

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered regenerative force makes fat grow after years of thinness, and is also unequalled for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable discovery is called Sargol. Six strengthening, fat-producing elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this peerless preparation, which is endorsed by eminent physicians and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A month's systematic use of Sargol should produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying highly concentrated fats to the blood. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten, and the additional fats that thin people need are provided. D. E. Campbell, Prescription Store, Victoria, B. C., and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh.

"I want to get a combination blackboard and checkerboard." It was the most crowded hour during the day in the great department store. The urbane floorwalker put on his best commercial smile. "Yes, sir. Take the elevator to the right. Fifth floor."

The man got off at the fifth floor. "I want to get a combination blackboard and checkerboard." "What did you say?" "I said I want to get a—now, just a minute—oh, yes, a combination blackboard and checkerboard."

"Games department, on the seventh floor." He then went up to the seventh floor. The keeper of the games department came forward. "I want to get a combination checkerboard—wait a minute—a combination—"

"A combination checkerboard and laprobe." "What did you say?" "I said I wanted to get a checkerboard and laprobe." The man looked at him curiously and said—"Yes, sir. You will find them in the specialty department, on the third floor."

The man went down to the third floor. He went up to a nice-looking lady, and patting her on the cheek, said—"I want to look at some of your patent, reversible lap checkerboards, cut bias, with pleats on the side." The saleslady called the floor-walker. He heard the man muttering to himself and called the house detective. When last seen as the man stepped into the ambulance that mercifully took him, he was saying to himself: "Laprobe-checkerboard-checkerlap-lap checkerboard-laprobe."—"Life."

The Power of Silence.—"I never listened to anything so soothing, and yet uplifting, as the lecture I heard at the club to-day on the power of silence. The lecture said that perfect rest and silence were one, and goodness knows I need perfect rest if anyone does, with this big house to manage, and you, George, and the children! Now that we are all together this evening, I am going to put in practice what I heard, so you can't say any more that my club is all foolishness when you see how the inspiration I gain from it will ultimately prove a beneficent influence to you all. Now, George, dear, please put your newspaper down; and, children, let the victrola alone, and just for fifteen minutes—just fifteen short minutes—we will surrender ourselves to that all-healing all—(now, what did that lecture call it?) well, anyway, the power of silence. Don't rattle the newspaper, George. We must be completely undistracted by any sound whatever. Sh-h-h! Billy, you mustn't kick your heels together. Sh-h-h! Oh, George, isn't this blissful! Everything so quiet. When our silence is over, remind me to show you the samples I got from the tailor and see which you like best. Sh-h-h! George, did you turn off the lights in your dressing-room before you came down to dinner? Now I wonder if you really did! No, Marjorie, you don't need to go upstairs and see. I had rather you would rest in silence. If father chooses to run up big electricity bills he can do so. He has to pay them, although, of course, I will be the one to suffer in the end. I always am. Isn't it fifteen minutes yet? I'm sure your watch must be slow, George. Well, then, sh-h-h! Billy, stop whispering to Marjorie. You will be nothing but a bundle of nerves when you grow up if you don't learn to keep still. Isn't it fifteen minutes now? Well, anyway, we have been silent long enough for the first time; we must accustom ourselves to it by degrees. Didn't you find it restful, George? Now, Marjorie, put that new march on the victrola, the one where all the instruments come in, I mean; and leave the top open so it will sound nice and loud!"—"Puck."

We have always held that the Turkish sense of humor has been underrated. AT THE THEATRES

DE WOLF HOPPER.

The Gilbert and Sullivan Opera company with a cast headed by De Wolf Hopper and including Idelle Patterson, Gladys Caldwell, Jayne Herbert, Maude Mordaunt, Anabel Jordan, Una Brooks, Arthur Cunningham, John Willard, Henry Smith, C. W. Phillips and Herbert Cripps, comes to the Royal Victoria to offer a double bill, "H. M. S. Pinafore," and "Trial by Jury" on October 25 and "Iolanthe" on October 26, "Iolanthe" having substituted for "The Pirates of Penzance," first announced.

This cycle of Gilbert & Sullivan's most famous and certainly most popular works was inaugurated a few years ago, when William A. Brady, revived "The Mikado." In its more or less modernized form this Gilbert & Sullivan classic proved so eminently successful as to encourage further revivals.

Aside from the pleasure which theatregoers have received from these operatic classics, the fact has been established that the wit and satire of Gilbert and the melodic charm and vivacity of Sullivan's genius still preserve their potency, for from the inception these revivals met with warm favor and keen enjoyment on the part of the audience.

INTERESTING PICTURES.

Hearts and Diamonds is the headliner at the Majestic theatre to-day and to-morrow and it is a splendid producer of laughter. John Bunney and Flora Finch are the leading fun-makers. Bunney gets into trouble by representing himself to be a bachelor, when he is a widower. He is blessed with two daughters who keep him busy trying to extricate himself from the trouble they get him into. It is funny to see Bunney play baseball, but he drives out a homer and wins the game. "Dick Potter's Wife" is a great fantasy, a modern fairy story in which is hidden a real lesson. It is very interesting and amusing. Many other pictures are shown which help to make the time spent at the Majestic very enjoyable.

WHAT VICTOR HUGO PROPHESED IN 1871

Great French Author Predicted
This War and the Triumph of His Country

On March 1, 1871, the national assembly of France convened at Bordeaux to ratify the preliminary articles of peace concluded with Germany. On that occasion Victor Hugo, after charging Napoleon III with the French debacle, contrasted the futures of the contending nations. As a result of her victory Germany, he declared, would be sternly ruled by a Caesar, "divine right," whose sceptre would be the sabre, enchainment thought, muzzling the press and stifling the national conscience, while conquered France would overcome her misery under the guidance of the sovereign people, with free speech, free conscience and human rights. Amid the wildest enthusiasm he concluded with this remarkable prophecy:

"Oh! The clock will strike—and we shall hear the sound—for this prodigious revenge. Thus will begin the tomorrow when France shall have one thought alone; to collect herself, to rest from the terrible gloom of desolation, to reassemble her forces, to educate her children, to rear with sacred passion those little ones who shall become great, to form citizens; to create an army which shall be the people, to call science to the aid of war, to study the strategy of the Prussians as Rome studied the strategy of the Carthage."

gians; to fortify herself, to consolidate and regenerate herself, to become again the France of '92, the France of an idea, the France of her promise. "Then, one day, she will suddenly rouse herself. She will become formidable. She will be seen at one blow to regain Lorraine, to regain Alsace. Is it enough? No! No! She will capture—listen!—Treves, Mainz, Cologne, Coblenz!—and you shall hear France cry: 'The clock strikes my hour! Germany! Hear me! Am I thine enemy? No, I am thy sister! I have taken all from thee, I return all to thee! Upon one condition: That we shall no longer be a divided people; that we shall be one united family, one republic. I will demolish my fortresses, thou thine. My vendetta is—brotherhood!'"

THE FEAR OF RUSSIA.

Sweden is the one neutral Christian country with a very strong and perhaps dominant pro-German party. Its motive is not love of Germany, but fear of Russia, fear which is honest, but we believe extremely ill-founded (says the Daily Chronicle). Our policy is as much attached to the preservation of the Scandinavian kingdoms as it was in 1855, when we guaranteed their territorial integrity. That is perfectly well understood by our friends and the British friendship with Russia, which is founded upon solid and, we hope, permanent bases, ought to go far to allay Swedish fears. Everything that Petrograd can do to ally them by explicit assurance has been done.

FIFTY LOCAL FIRMS ARE REPRESENTED

Throughs Attended Made-in-Victoria Exhibition at Opening Proceedings Yesterday

EXCELLENT DISPLAYS OF LOCALLY-MADE GOODS

List of the Exhibitors; Event
Continues To-day and To-morrow

Though the organizers of the Made-in-Victoria exhibition had expected a large attendance on the opening day of the fair, the numbers that thronged the hall during the whole of yesterday exceeded all expectations.

On the platform accompanying Commissioner Cuthbert, who presided for the ceremony at which Hon. Dr. Young officiated, were Col. the Hon. E. G. Prior, president of the board of officers; Alderman O'Neil, chairman of the executive committee of the Victoria and Island Development association, and also represented the mayor; Alderman Todd, J. L. Beckwith, R. W. Douglas, E. E. Billingham, W. J. Williams, H. F. Bullen, chairman of the industrial committee of the Development association, and F. Westley Newton, secretary of the Victoria branch of the B. C. Manufacturers' association. Among those noticed in the body of the hall were Hon. Dr. Helmecken, the Ven. Archdeacon Scriven, Alderman McKicking, Alderman McCandless, J. C. Penderay, W. A. Jameson and many ladies.

The chairman explained that the exhibition was being held to encourage home industry. Victorians could show a practical patriotism by buying locally-made articles. This would stimulate manufacture and lead to the employment of more citizens, which would increase the weekly payroll here.

Hon. Dr. Young took occasion to refer to the great struggle in which the empire is engaged and pointed out that at this time a special claim is made upon all citizens to aid one another. The exhibits showed what could be done here. By using Victoria-made articles the citizens could render practical help to each other. The public could cause the employment of many more people in British Columbia by supporting its manufactures. The exhibition was indeed a revelation.

The provincial government was doing its best to maintain public affairs in their normal channel. He had during the morning received a telegram from Sir Richard McBride that he had secured $5,000,000 for public works during his visit to the east. In conclusion, pointing to Mrs. Hamilton's picture of a priest which is to be raffled on behalf of the Belgian fund and which is on exhibition at the show, Dr. Young appealed to the public to support the sale, saying that no sacrifice would be too much after the gallantry of the Belgian people.

Col. Prior urged that even when prices were higher than those of outside firms, preference should be given to local manufacturers, while Alderman O'Neil pointed out that a practical local patriotism was needed to maintain the prosperity of the city, especially at this time.

A vote of thanks was tendered the minister, who then withdrew. In dealing with the exhibits it is difficult to particularize without failing to do justice to all. So far as the management is concerned, the bulk of the work had fallen on Commissioner Cuthbert and Secretary Westley Newton. Both of them feel that the labor has been well worth the undertaking, for no one anticipated that in war time, when the public mind is distracted, so much could be done to place before the public in a striking way the opportunities that exist for the purchase of food-stuffs, building material, furniture and other articles made in Victoria. The action of the management in securing the Drill hall in preference to accommodation at the Willows park is also justified, but a much larger building than the Drill hall could have been filled by the many exhibitors who desired to be represented.

Two or three of the exhibits deserve some special explanation, particularly that of the B. C. Electric Railway. This formed part of the display which was to have been shown at the Dominion exhibition. The firms co-operating with the street lighting company are engaged in the wiring business, so that they utilize in their exhibits the power provided by the B. C. Electric Railway company. They make no claim that the articles shown are manufactured locally, but are merely there as displays of electrical attachments for the home.

Another unusual feature is the display of the Woodworkers' Ltd., in that the toys shown are some of these made in Victoria under the proposal launched by the Development association some weeks ago. As the demand for finished lumber is very light now, the skilled workmen in the woodworking factories of Victoria have an excellent chance to oust the imported toys which in past years have come largely from Bavaria and the Tyrol.

The Canada Mosaic Tile company has included in its exhibit a tracery window modelled from the design for the First Presbyterian church, showing the pointed Gothic arches which will make a striking feature of this new ecclesiastical edifice.

Reference has already been made to the auto funeral car of Dr. J. Jenkins, of Nanaimo, exhibited by the Auto-Rebuilding company, which is notable as being the first horseless vehicle of this type manufactured in the province. The coach, upholstery, carving, fittings and even the springs of the body are locally made.

A lead to the auctioning of the exhibits for the patriotic fund has been given by P. Burns & Co., who will hold an auction to-morrow night at 10. One visitor yesterday gave $50 each to the patriotic fund and the Belgian fund.

Music was provided by the Highlanders' band in the afternoon, and the Fifth Regiment band in the evening. The same arrangement will prevail to-morrow. To-day the Fusiliers' band supplies the music. Last evening the soloists were J. G. Brown, Robert Morrison and Harry Griffiths, while this evening R. McKenzie and H. Morden will be the vocalists.

At the Florence Nightingale chapter tea table Misses Hiscock and Lovell preside to-day. Adjacent to the Daughters of the Empire exhibit is another display, from which are distributed samples of a locally-brewed coffee, so refreshments can be readily secured.

In the afternoons admission is free, and in the evenings ten cents is charged. Most of the visitors yesterday expected that at least 25 cents admission would be charged, but the exhibition is being held for educational purposes and not revenue producing. In adopting the course it has the committee will have the hearty endorsement of the public.

Apart from those firms with exhibits at the fair, a large number of merchants are making special window displays of Made-in-Victoria articles, particularly house furniture.

Her friends had asked their young hostess to play for them, and she was performing a difficult selection from Wagner. In the midst of it she suddenly stopped in confusion. "What's the matter?" asked one of the visitors. "I—I struck a false note," faltered the performer. "Well, what of it?" cried another guest. "Go ahead. Nobody but Wagner would ever know it, and he's dead."

Hadn't Used One.—Uncle Ezra—Eph Hoskins must have had some time down in New York." Uncle Eben—"Yep. Reckon he travelled a mighty swift pace. Eph's wife said that when Eph got back and went into his room, he looked at the bed, kicked it, and said, 'What's that darn thing for?'"

CHAMPIONS UNABLE TO LOCATE BOBBY GENGE FOR THIS SEASON

P. C. H. A. Holds Annual Meeting at Vancouver; Dunderdale a Holdout; Probable Trades

"I have little hopes of putting through the deal for Ran. MacDonald, but I have made the Portland club a fine offer for this forward and the matter is now up to them" was the statement of Manager Patrick, of the Victoria club, upon his return from Vancouver this morning. The annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association was held last night at the Terminal City, the schedule being adopted, while Portland was formally admitted into the organization. Hugh Lehman, it was announced, was sold by Portland to Vancouver, while there is a deal pending between these two clubs for Kenny Mallen. It is expected that Percy Lesueur will guard the nets for the Portland club, the Ottawa star having written the Coast league.

Tommy Dunderdale is a holdout on the Victoria club, while the management are making strenuous endeavors to locate Bob. Genge, the defence star of last season. Genge has not been heard from since last spring, though a dispatch from Fort William states that he will not accept a salary cut, and is thinking of jumping to the new pro. league that is being formed in the east. The season will open on December 8, at Portland, when the Vancouver septette invade the Rose City.

Frank Patrick, of Vancouver, was re-elected president of the Coast league. Arthur J. Small was re-elected secretary-treasurer, while the directors are: Lester Patrick, Victoria; E. H. Savage and George Keller, Portland, Ore.

Two changes were made in the playing rules of the league. One prohibits the body checking of an opponent within ten feet of the boards, and the other stipulates that no offside will be called from a goalkeeper from the first section from his own goal. The teams will remain as at present constituted, seven men a side, and the new rule eliminating offside in centre ice, which worked so well last season, will again be in operation.

The P. C. H. A. schedule, for the season of 1914-15:
Dec. 8—Vancouver at Portland. Dec. 11—Victoria at Vancouver. Dec. 15—Portland at Victoria. Dec. 18—Portland at Vancouver. Dec. 26—Victoria at Portland. Dec. 29—Vancouver at Victoria. Jan. 5—Vancouver at Vancouver. Jan. 8—Victoria at Vancouver. Jan. 12—Portland at Vancouver. Jan. 15—Portland at Vancouver. Jan. 19—Victoria at Portland. Jan. 22—Vancouver at Portland. Jan. 26—Vancouver at Portland. Jan. 29—Victoria at Vancouver. Feb. 2—Portland at Vancouver. Feb. 9—Vancouver at Portland. Feb. 12—Vancouver at Victoria. Feb. 16—Vancouver at Portland. Feb. 19—Victoria at Vancouver. Feb. 23—Portland at Victoria. Feb. 26—Portland at Vancouver. Feb. 27—Portland at Vancouver. March 2—Vancouver at Victoria. March 5—Victoria at Portland. March 6—Victoria at Portland. March 9—Vancouver at Victoria.

VANCOUVER SQUAD TO BOX AT SMOKER

Vancouver Island A. A. Will Hold Benefit Tourney Next Tuesday Evening

A permit has been granted to the Vancouver Island A. A. for the holding of a benefit boxing tourney, the funds of which shall be contributed to the Patriotic fund. This was announced at a meeting of the V. I. A. A. in the Sayward Block last night, when this club met to make final arrangements for the smoker which will be held on Wednesday evening next. A committee consisting of Jesse M. Warren, W. S. LeGrande and W. H. Davies will handle the smoker and they are trying to secure the drill hall for this event. All of the Victoria sporting clubs will be represented and it is expected that the Vancouver Island A. A. will enter fully a dozen boxers including Scotty McKay, Jack Larrigan, Donald McKay, Al. Davies, Scott Cropper, Sailor Mallen, Billy Sneddon and the rest of the squad. Blaney Scott will enter, while Vancouver will also send over some boxers. The winter quarters of the club will be re-opened shortly, the vacancies on the board of management being filled by Jesse M. Warren and J. M. Conley, elected in the places of Colin Morris and Jack Mann, who left with the first contingent for the front.

Vancouver, Oct. 23.—Manager Russ Leighton of the local club announced last night that the boys to go from this city would likely be Gus Athens, 158 pounds; George Ross, 115 pounds and Bill Bacon, 108 pounds.

Manager Leighton is also making plans for a tournament to be held in the Commercial club on the night of October 3 or 4. The feature bout at this event will be a mill between Bud Soules and Stanley Clements. It is expected that Scotty McKay and Al. Davies will represent Victoria in the above bouts, Blaney Scott being unable to make the trip because of his military duties.

NATIONALS WINNERS OF DOWSWELL CUP

Nationals have been awarded the Dowswell lacrosse trophy because of the refusal of the Centrals to play the final game. This splendid trophy, donated by Robt. AT BEACON HILL

West's and Jacksons Will Provide Battle Royal; Thistles Should Beat James Bays

Whether the Victoria West team are to be headed in their quest of the Victoria Football association honors will be settled to-morrow afternoon at Beacon Hill, when the soccer league leaders meet the Sir John Jackson club in the week-end feature. The Wests have not been defeated to date, while the Albert Head club have dropped a couple of hard luck games. They are able to field one of the strongest teams in the league, but the goals have not been coming their way. Wests, with one or two changes, are the same aggressive club as in the past, and Manager Jack Youson thinks that they can win the championship and the right to battle for the McBride shield.

Bays and Thistles will play at Oak Bay and the Scotsmen must win if they are to remain up with the Wests. Empires and Oak Bays also play at Oak Bay, while the Civic Service and Wests meet for the leadership of the second division. C. P. R. will endeavor to pull up once more by defeating the Fairfield eleven. To-morrow's games are as follows:

Senior.
James Bays vs. Thistles, Oak Bay grounds; referee, Mr. Allen.

Jacksons vs. Wests, Beacon Hill; referee, Mr. Goward.

Intermediate.
Empires vs. Oak Bays, Beacon Hill grounds; referee, Mr. Locke.

Junior.
Y. M. C. A. vs. Wards, High School vs. Wests. Grounds for the juniors will be settled upon to-day.

The team to represent the Sir John Jacksons vs. Wests on Saturday next at Beacon Hill will be: Thorburn, Sheriff, Tunnicliffe, Allan, Blundell, Niven (capt.), Kerley, Nichol, Hill, Douglas, Clarkson, Lumsden, W. I. Jones. Reserves, Green, Norton, Phoenix.

Victoria West line-up: Robertson, Whyte, Bolton, Stewart, Pettierew, Okell, Plump, Prevost, Youson, Sherratt, Baker.

The following line-up is the eleven which the Y. M. C. A. expect to defeat the Centaur Boys' club juniors Saturday afternoon: Goal, Bivrey; backs, Bertucci and Constable; halves, Lawrence, Baker and McAdam; forwards, McKinnon, Dowell, Haggard, Hatch and Smith. Reserves, McKenzie and Johnston.

Empire team against Oak Bay for Saturday at Beacon Hill upper ground. Munray, Elliott, Castle, Baker, Nash, Smith, Woods, Cummings, Pike, Lane, Cummins. Reserve, McLeod.

Fairfield team to meet the C. P. R. will be: Leeming (captain), Cox, Church, Gibson, A. Lea, G. Clegg, Roy Clegg, Hill, Richards, R. Lea and Erickson. Reserves, Payne, J. C. Clowes and J. R. Porter. The match will be played at Beacon Hill (new ground, near Albion cricket ground). Kick-off 3 o'clock. Players are requested to be on the ground at least fifteen minutes before time of kick-off.

Toronto, Oct. 23.—It has developed that at least one ineligible player figured on the C. P. R. team of Fort William, which won the Connaught cup soccer competition at Winnipeg, and a mail vote is now being taken in regard to the matter. If the games won by the C. P. R. team are thrown out, Norwood Wanderers and the Eatonians of Toronto will be equal in points, but the former club will get the cup on the basis of goals scored. It is alleged that the Fort William team played a "ringer" in the person of Eastborn, an English pro, who was at right wing under the name of Summers.

Bob Morrison, the flaxen haired inside right of the Civic Service, was kicked on the thigh last Saturday and will be out of the game for the rest of the season. Capt. Shearman will give Bartholomew a chance on Saturday against the Wests.

Savidant, the Civic Service new centre half, is said to be very fast and uses his head two ways.

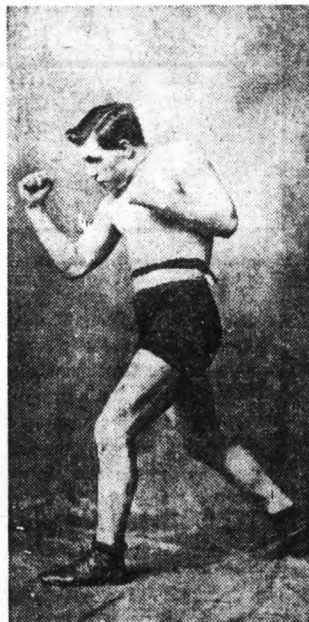

CEDAR HILL CLUB ENTERS COMMERCIAL

A meeting of the Commercial Hockey League will be held on Monday night in the Winch Building when the league will elect officers for the year and arrange for an early opening of the hockey schedule. It is announced that there will be four clubs this season, the Cedar Hill seven replacing the Clothiers who won the championship last year. The Shoe Men, Electricians and Shortt, Hill and Duncan, will form the remaining clubs. Arrangements have been made for practice hours at the Arena and a big year is looked for.

BAYLEY LEAVES FOR THE SOUTH TO-NIGHT

Joe Bayley, former lightweight champion of Canada, leaves to-night for Frisco, where he has been signed up to fight Joe Azevedo over the ten-round route next month. Bayley will be accompanied by Cyclone Scott, the local middleweight, who is also after bouts in the south.

BOXING TOURNEY

INMAN CANNOT BEAT WILLIE HOPPE

Montreal, Oct. 23.—Playing their first block of 1,000 points at English billiards, Melbourne Inman defeated Willie Hoppe by a score of 1,000 to 441 in the two sessions yesterday afternoon and evening.

The great surprise of the match was the splendid showing that Hoppe made against his English opponent, particularly in the evening session, when he ran up a total of 251 while Inman was making the necessary 500 to win.

The results of the day's games still leave Hoppe with a comfortable lead. He has a total of 1,441 against Inman's 1,140. Playing in improved form in the evening, Inman showed a brilliant performance, although his highest run did not reach that of the afternoon game. Hoppe also showed improvement over his afternoon play.

WEST VS. CIVIC SERVICE.

The following line-up will represent the Victoria West intermediates in their game with the Civic Service eleven at the Heywood Avenue grounds to-morrow at 2:45 o'clock: Goal, Davies; backs, Ord and Brown; halves, Mesher, Youson and Sedger; forwards, Grimes, Mirfield, James, Pettigrew, and Carmichael; reserve, Jessop.

LOCAL REFEREES

FOR BIG MATCH

New American Rugby Rules Pave Way to Increased Casualty List

Messrs. Scott, Davies and Hill have been suggested as probable referees of the Stanford-California game, which will be held in the south the first of next month. A meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union will be held on Monday night at the Ritz hotel when this matter will be considered. The California Rugby Union had written the local union, asking for an official for the Rugby feature of California. Last year they engaged Hill, secretary of the Australian Rugby Union, to referee the match, and paid the expenses of both him and his wife, for a trip lasting over two months.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Although the rules committee is doing its utmost to eliminate the danger element in football and make the game rationally safe, the governing body permitted the passage last winter of an amendment which is sure to result in injuries and give the officials a lot of room for doubt.

This amendment pertains to roughing a kicker. Under the old ruling, or the one which has been in vogue for the last ten years, any player who roughed the kicker was subject to disqualification. This was a good rule, because the man who booted the oval was off his balance and in no position to perfect himself from the charges of opponents who generally slammed into him pell mell with a lot of momentum. As a result the kicker generally was hurt and the chances of his team's victory lessened accordingly.

Officials Now the Judges.

At the last meeting the committee adopted the amendment, with the result the officials are the sole judges as to the defensive man's intentions. They are to rule whether a charging player intentionally or unintentionally roughs the kicker.

This point has come up several times in the games already played, and in justice to players, coaches and officials the committee must make a ruling one way or the other. A rule must be adopted which forbids any defensive player from interfering with the kicker or else allow the defending players to slam into the booter and make him defend himself as best he can. Smart coaches are sure to take advantage of this rule and order their men to rough the star players.

THE VICTROLA AND THE FAMILY NO. 1

and the Victrola are great friends. "I like to sit back and dream of the days gone by, while the Victrola, through its magic, recalls the old songs and singers to me.

"There's Tamagno and Plançon, Patti and Melba who still sing for me just as I used to hear them, at their best, although two are now dead and one has permanently retired from the stage. And the younger generation of singers, although I have never had an opportunity of hearing them personally, seem like old friends to me, so familiar have their voices become through their wonderfully beautiful Victor Records.

"All the rest of the family enjoy the Victrola just as much as I do. They all have their favorite music and their favorite singers and musicians. It don't seem to me as though there could be anything that could give so much pleasure to everybody as the Victrola does."

SAANICH SCHOOLS.

To the Editor:—Might I indulge in a little space to describe to the Saanich ratepayers what the school board has done since the long delayed by-law was defeated? In the first place, they have leased a site on the corner of Tillicum and Burnside roads, and have caused a temporary one roomed school to be erected thereon large enough to accommodate about 40 children.

HOME TALENT.

To the Editor:—While we are dwelling on the "Made-in-Victoria" movement, I would like to draw attention to the Allen Players at the Princess theatre. This company is playing Victoria talent, using scenery made in Victoria, and employing nearly thirty people. As far as I can learn, the Allen Players are not getting the patronage they deserve, for Miss Felton and her associates are putting on good bills every week at popular prices. I think theatregoers should accord this excellent stock company larger support, for its stay in this city means more money kept in circulation here.

A SCOTSMAN'S CHALLENGE.

To the Editor:—Your issue of Oct. 21 contains an article by Sir Henry Lucy in which the following remarkable statement occurs: "Nor was this all. Scotland, not yet conquered, was a menace to the north, ready to take advantage of any embarrassment that might befall her neighbor south of the Tweed." Can the Times or any of its readers inform me when this conquering was completed? Or is the above statement only an exhibition of the very common English ignorance and arrogance which one encounters so many times during a day's march? If I am wrong in thinking that Scotland never was conquered by Englishmen or any other people, I am open to conviction, but produce the proof.

EDUCATION CRANKS.

To the Editor:—Do you not think it is about time to eliminate the education crank?

I notice that the school board, prompted no doubt by pedagogic influences, propose spending eight thousand dollars in erecting a building wherein will be taught physical training and domestic science. What earthly good will come of this? It's about time to have done with sentimental nonsense, and by curtailing, instead of enlarging the curriculum of the public schools, limit in some measure the wild extravagance of the education department. If our dainty daughters and dapper youths desire to learn domestic science and physical training let them do so in the home kitchen and the camp. The eight thousand dollars which it is proposed to squander on a useless building could be used in purchasing many articles which would be a Godsend to our gallant soldiers at the front.

It is the opinion of not a few sensible ratepayers that, during this terrible war, we should come down to the three R's in the common schools and shut up the High school altogether.

REFORM.

COMFORTS FOR SOLDIERS.

To the Editor:—I have been reading in Times of this evening Mrs. Ada Stebbins' excellent suggestion that the school children should be taught to knit and so help to supply our soldiers with good socks or stockings. It is a brave idea, and one I hope to see carried out for, besides helping a good cause, it will be a very useful accomplishment in after life for the workers.

May I augment the knitting suggestion of this lady? There are, I know, plenty of "grown-ups" anxious and willing to be helped. I for one, but though I learned to knit in France many years back, I have entirely forgotten number of stitches, wool, needles, etc. I have been all over the city trying to find printed instructions, and am everywhere greeted with "sold out, but more are ordered." When they are likely to come is indefinite. Meanwhile we waste time. Will any lady who knows write out full instructions on how to knit socks, and either print it in the Times or advertise where it can be bought, say, for 10c. There will then be a chance to add a little to patriotic fund by the sale.

PENELOPE.

Oct. 20.

From some of the small town drug stores in the stone quarry district of Indiana you can buy anything from talcum powder to blasting gelatine. Not long ago a small quarry operator drove up to one of these stores. The man was in a buggy and was accompanied by his wife. Calling to the proprietor of the store, he said: "Jim, bring me that box I bought a while ago. The package was placed in the buggy at the feet of the man and his wife. The latter eyed the box suspiciously. "What's in that package?" she asked, with some fervor. "Now, never mind," said the husband. "That's not going to hurt you." The evasion excited the woman's further suspicions. "Ed Spivens," she exclaimed, "that's a package of dynamite." "Well, what if it is," said Ed with some emphasis. "It won't do any damage unless it explodes." "Ed Spivens," shrieked the woman, "if you think I am going to ride six miles in a buggy with you with 50 pounds of dynamite at my feet you are a bigger fool than I thought you were! You have that man take that stuff right out and put it in the back part of the buggy, under the seat."

An Alaska pioneer was telling how crowded a certain ship was during the gold rush. One day a man came up to the captain, and said: "You will have to give me some place to sleep." "Where have you been sleeping?" "Well," the passenger replied, "I have been sleeping on a sick man, but he's getting better now, and he won't stand it."

Lord Chief Justice Clerk Braxfield was a man of few words and of strong business habits, and, consequently, when he courted his second wife, he said to her: "Lizzie, I'm looking out for a wife, and I thought you just the person to suit me. Let me have your answer on or off to-morrow, and nae mair about it." The lady next day replied in the affirmative. Shortly after the marriage Lord Braxfield's butler came to him to give up his situation because he could not bear her ladyship's continual scolding. "Man," Braxfield exclaimed, "ye've little to complain of; ye may be thankful ye're no married to her."

Build Up Your Own City By Buying Home-Manufactured Goods

Newton & Greer Co., Ltd.

S. R. Newton, of the firm of Newton & Greer Co., Ltd., who has for 22 years been engaged in the study of paint problems, has after three years work, just completed successful samples of a composition waterproof and fireproof paint that can be made in all colors. This paint will be manufactured and placed on the market within a few months.

The firm, of which Mr. Newton is the head, has been engaged in the manufacture of paint in Victoria for many years, and their celebrated line of "Nag" products are well known to the public. They manufacture paints and varnishes of all kinds, slating compositions for rendering shingles fireproof, and iron compositions for steel bridges. All the steel bridges on the E. & N. railway were treated with "Nag" seven years ago and are in as good condition to-day as the day they were painted.

The Newton & Greer Co. export all over the country, and have branch houses in Vancouver, Nanaimo, and New Westminster, and they state that they can produce any paint right in Victoria as cheaply as those made in the east.

W. K. Houston & Co.

Take a piece of clean blotting paper and place on it a little of the "Queen City" brand catsup made by the W. K. Houston Co., and on another piece of blotting paper place a little catsup of some other make, and notice the difference. The water that will be absorbed from the other brand, and the fact that none will come out of the "Queen City" will prove the pureness of the local product.

The Houston Co. put up numerous products, vinegars, pickles, Worcestershire sauce, salad oil and horseradish, and all are guaranteed pure and of the best quality. In the factory on Fisgard street everything is spotless—employees are compelled to keep themselves and their workrooms as clean as a new pin, and the premises are inspected every 30 days by a Dominion government inspector. The bottling is not done by fire, but by steam jacketed kettles.

The prices of the products are 20 per cent. lower than imported articles, and are guaranteed to be as good if not better. Visitors are welcome at any time to inspect the plant.

Canada Mosaic Tile Co., Ltd.

A visit to the factory of the Canada Mosaic Tile Co. shows the marvels that can be accomplished with cement. The company works in cement only and is an expert at imitating real stone in that material. They have lately completed a fine stone tracery window for the First Presbyterian church, in an imitation of the famous Caen stone which is procured in France. The cement imitation of this stone is superior to the real article because of the fact that it is harder and impervious to water, and always keeps cool.

The keystone for the new city hall is also in the hands of this firm, as well as the whole of the stone work for the Presbyterian church.

This company also makes cement vases and tree tubs, 57 of the latter being lately made for the Hon. James Dunsmuir. Other products are flooring tiles in any design supplied by the customer, and window sills as supplied to the Beacon Hill school, and also cement laundry trays, made to order and sold on a guarantee.

Morrison's Iron Works

Down on Store street, where it has been for many years, the business being established in 1890, the Morrison Iron Works has its factory. Their business is to make articles of all kinds from iron, steel, brass and copper.

An example of their work is the fire escape on the David Spencer store, and that on the Canadian Bank of Commerce in this city. They manufacture ornamental iron, grates and fences; do ship and engine work, and rudders and iron work for gasoline launches.

The iron works carry four or five employees all the year round; they have an amount of modern machinery in the shop, the whole being run by electrical power. They are ready and willing to undertake any kind of iron work, no matter of what kind or for what purpose, and they execute their orders quickly and accurately. After 24 years in the business they feel that there is little in their line of business that they cannot accomplish.

Cabrillo Cigar Factory

Havana imported direct from Cuba composes the filling of the well-known local Cabrillo cigar, manufactured in Victoria by the Cabrillo Cigar Factory at 620 Pandora avenue. As all cigar smokers know, the filling of a cigar is grown on one particular kind of ground and the wrapper on another. The Cabrillo factory gets its importation each year from the same plantation in Cuba, practically from the same plants, and the Havana is imported direct to Victoria.

The factory employs an average of eight cigar-makers and exports cigars all over British Columbia, as far north as the Skeena river and Prince George. Its products are sold at various prices, the tobacco in the cheaper lines coming from the States. Canadian tobacco, grown at Colona, has been tried, but is only fit for making plug tobacco, and therefore the raw material has to be imported.

The price of a cigar depends upon the class of tobacco used, and the Cabrillo Cigar Factory import Havana with which to make cigars equal to those sold in any part of the world.

Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd.

A Marine Railway, capable of hauling vessels up to 3,000 tons for bottom repairs and cleaning, is one of the main features of the plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot on Esquimalt road. The plant is of modern construction and the equipment thoroughly up-to-date including many tools that are not to be found in any other shop in British Columbia.

All sorts of repairs and renewals to steamships can be effected at this plant, and an extensive business is done in the making of land and marine boilers, steel tanks, hoisting engines, ships winches and land winches.

The extensive machine shop is fitted out to do all classes of work and forging from the lightest to the heaviest can be done in the smithy.

This firm also makes a number of articles used locally such as city castings, sidewalk doors, septic tank covers, columns, pipes and machine cut gears for automobiles. The stores department carries a complete line of valves, fittings, packings and other sundries.

W. J. Pendray & Sons, Ltd.

Many years ago, in 1875, in a house on Humboldt street, an enterprising citizen started making soap on his kitchen range—from that beginning has grown the big soap factory of W. J. Pendray & Sons.

The factory as it now stands on the corner of Belleville and Montreuil streets, gives steady employment to sixteen people, and manufactures soaps and washing powders of all descriptions. Among the foremost of these are the famous White Swan Soap, and the White Swan Cleanser known to every housewife in Victoria.

The company manufactures no less than ten brands of laundry soap and six of toilet soap, besides a long line of "Pendray" products beginning with Pendray's Bag Blue and ending with Pendray's Liquid Toilet Soap, Pendray's Malt Vinegar and Pendray's Powdered Ammonia. The company maintains warehouses in Vancouver, B. C., and Calgary, Alberta, in order to facilitate the wide distribution of its products.

The Albion Stove Works, Ltd.

This company has been manufacturing stoves in Victoria for over forty years. Commencing in a small way in the early seventies with a few patterns, the business has grown until it now makes 106 different styles and sizes, from the three oven French ranges weighing 3,400 pounds which are used throughout British Columbia on steamships and in hotels, to the modest little cabin stove.

In connection with the stove plant, there is a modern Electro Plating department which can turn out all classes of work, and further since the city has enforced the doing away with all exposed wiring, a line of switch boxes and steel cabinets as used by electricians, has been added.

During normal times the company employs thirty mechanics, a number that would soon rise to one hundred if citizens would inspect the line of stoves displayed in the company's new quarters at the corner of Government and Pembroke streets, before buying goods made out of town.

W. A. Jameson Coffee Co.

To prove to the housewife the good leavening qualities of their "Feather-Light" brand of Baking Powder the W. A. Jameson Coffee Co. are giving a working demonstration at the "Made-in-Victoria" Fair—Mixing the dough and baking biscuits in an electric oven in plain view of all.

This Baking Powder, which complies with the Government Standard for strength of available gas, is made, every ounce of it, in Victoria and further is sold at about one-half the price of imported articles.

The company also roasts and packs "Jameson's Coffee," for which it is famous, and also manufactures Flavoring Extracts, Persian Sherbet and many other grocers' sundries.

A feature of their products is the labels. The firm's name and the name of its brand, "Victoria," stand out clear and distinct, and every label is manufactured in Victoria too. The firm is composed of five members of one family, who have lived in the city for 25 years and stayed there through thick and thin, spending their money where they made it.

The Staneland Co., Ltd.

Incorporated in 1907, this firm took over the business of the Dominion Paint Co. which was in operation since 1900. The Staneland Co. manufactures a complete line of paints suitable for houses, ships, bridges, cement and plaster, also oil and shingle stains, colors ground in oil, Japan and water and a number of other specialties.

The specialties are all of a distinctive class, and set of standard of quality which is the outcome of persistent progressive development.

Next spring it is the intention of the firm to erect a plant for the manufacture of a complete line of varnishes. The raw materials used by the firm come from the well-known Burrell & Co., of London, England.

In asking the Victoria public to use its products the company does not wish to put forward the fact that they are made in Victoria as the only reason, but urges the high quality of the goods and the low prices, which are less than those in the east.

Silver Spring Brewery, Ltd.

Saanich hops, right from the Saanich peninsula go to make the beer manufactured by the Silver Spring Brewery, Ltd., and the management states that these same hops are grown in Saanich as the equal of those that are obtained from Bohemia to-day. The malt used in Silver Spring Beer comes from the famous house of Blunkett, of Dublin, Ireland.

When the brewery was started, five years ago, the capacity was 75 barrels a week; at the present time the output is 100 barrels a day with a pay roll of 35 persons all of which are British subjects. The $300,000 plant is modern and up-to-date in every respect, and there is no better beer on the market than that which it produces.

Lager Beer, English Ales and Stout are all manufactured by the Silver Spring Brewery, and are exported to all parts of British Columbia. By careful brewing, and personal supervision the brewery is able to turn out a beverage that is second to none, and is well named "The Beer of Purity."

British America Paint Co., Ltd.

Established twenty-two years ago, when it filled a much needed want, this firm has grown to be one of the largest and best equipped plants of its kind west of Toronto. It manufactures paint, stain, enamel and varnish for every purpose, and makes all of these articles right in the city of Victoria.

Some of its well known products are: Bapco Pure Paint, Bapco Shingle Stain, Bapco Brick and Cement Coating, Bapco White Lead, Ironite Varnishes and a host of others of the "Bapco" and "Ironite" Brand.

In addition to these standard lines the company makes all kinds of special paints for steel bridges and iron work, for patent roofings, and for resisting heat, cold and water.

The company exports as far away as the Yukon, and maintains branch houses at Vancouver, Calgary and Edmonton. Its officers attribute a great deal of the success of the company, to the absolute guarantee it gives with the goods it sells.

The B. Wilson Co., Ltd.

The pioneer smokehouse of Victoria is the B. Wilson Co., Ltd., the plant containing five smokehouses, which run continuously. The meat, which consists of hams, bacon, boned hams and Yorkshire rolls, comes from Eastern Canada in refrigerator cars direct to the doors of the company. It is there transferred to refrigerators in the plant, and passes through a process of soaking, washing and smoking.

The value of having a smoking plant in the same city with the consumers can readily be seen, as the meat goes straight from the smokehouse to the consumer instead of travelling from the east, after it has been smoked.

The B. Wilson Co., Ltd., started their ice-making plant some few years ago, with a capacity of 5 tons a day. The new and enlarged plant can now turn out 75 tons of fine pure commercial ice each day.

A high standard of excellence is always maintained by the company in the products that it puts on the market.

Esquimalt Brewing Co., Ltd.

This is a new firm organized with local capital to produce an ale and stout equal or superior to the imported article. The aim of the firm is to oust the imported article and develop an exporting trade from Victoria. Their brewer is an expert of 27 years' experience, who came to them from a leading English brewery.

The ales and stouts manufactured by this firm will stand export and keep in any climate. They are brewed from malt and hops only of the highest grade, and only Goldstream water is used.

The nut brown ales are made to compete with the heavy imported article, as also is the "London" stout. The lighter ales are brewed to meet the requirements of those who are accustomed to the lighter class of English family ales.

In order to accommodate six months stock the company intend to erect new storage cellars, and have acquired extensive warehouse space in Victoria for storage and bottling purposes. Importing firms at present reap a large profit on foreign goods, and hence do not care to push the local product, but the public will appreciate the local brew after having once tasted it.

Crystal Spring Water Supply Co.

The Crystal Spring Water Supply Company have been engaged in the manufacture of Syphon Soda and Carbonated soft drinks for the last year. The concern originally started by the bottling and selling the water of the well known Crystal Spring on Richardson street, and this met with such success that the management decided to advance a step further and install modern machinery and place on the market a high grade line of Carbonated drinks.

The plant where these drinks are made is a model one. Everything is put up under the personal supervision of the management, and visitors are cordially welcomed to visit and inspect the premises at 1244 Richardson street at any time during business hours. A glass of water from the ice cold Crystal spring will convince anyone that the Carbonated drinks manufactured from it must be the best and purest on the market.

Shawnigan Lake Lumber Co., Ltd.

Since the incorporation of this firm in 1890, they have executed a number of very large contracts for lumber and poles. The mill is at Shawnigan Lake where the company has its own lumber camps, from which it can obtain poles from 80 to 110 feet long. Where the majority of lumber companies buy their logs, the Shawnigan Lake Lumber Co. cut their own and so can fill any order.

The factory and head offices are in Victoria, where orders are taken to supply anything and everything from rough and dressed lumber to laths, shingles and mouldings.

The company has a pay roll of 150 men who are kept busy in mill and camp getting out timber for such contracts as the Toronto Harbor works. A large amount of the business of the company comes from the prairies where there is a ready market, and the new mill which was put up two years ago, is kept running at its capacity of 75,000 feet a day, for the major portion of the year. The company's head office is at 2000 Government street.

Ramsay's Machine Works

Marine engines and boilers of every description are the especial care of Ramsay's Machine Works, who have a large machine shop and repair plant at 1630 Store street, fitted with the latest and most up-to-date tools and machinery.

At this shop may be obtained brass and iron castings of all kinds, together with pipes and fittings, steel and wood split pulleys, pumps and valves.

The machine works also undertake to renew and repair automobile and launch parts and do any other kind of machine work. The firm particularly makes a point of executing all orders promptly, and is always ready to undertake repairs to any factory machinery that may break down and require immediate attention.

Ramsay's Machine Works employ a number of machinists and workmen in Victoria, and has been established in the city for a number of years.

Sidney Island Brick & Tile Co., Ltd.

Few people are aware of the value of hollow tile for residence building. Hollow tile keeps in the heat in winter and keeps the cold out and vice versa, and it is especially adapted to the climate of B. C. as it keeps out the damp in winter.

Hollow tile is now being manufactured by the Sidney Island Brick & Tile Co., Ltd., at their plant on Sidney Island, where they have installed an amount of new machinery for this purpose. This factory gives employment to forty-five men, and white labor is used entirely.

The first use of local hollow tile was made in Victoria when this company supplied that material for use in the Normal School. It readily takes the place of common brick.

There is no freight and duty to contend with when the product is made locally, and the fact that 600 carloads of hollow tile were used in Vancouver during the last two years and brought from Tacoma for that purpose, shows the market is open to receive well made moderate priced tiles.

Victoria-Phoenix Brewing Co.

Established in 1882, this brewery is the oldest in British Columbia. It has a most up-to-date plant, fitted to make beer of excellent quality, and gives steady employment to forty persons. The materials used in making this beer are all grown in Canada. All the hops used are grown in British Columbia, and the malt comes from eastern Canada.

On account of the large output from this brewery, and the fact that its financial standing enables it to take advantage of all discounts, and on account of the modern plant the Victoria-Phoenix Brewing Co. is able to sell its beer at a lower price than its competitors, and still produce beer of only the one quality—the best.

The company exports all over B. C. and as far north as Dawson in the Yukon.

The management, at all times, makes a point of purchasing its materials as close home as it possibly can; and personally superintends the manufacture of the products that it places before the citizens of Victoria.

P. Burns & Co., Ltd.

Fresh smoked and pickled meats, manufactured by P. Burns & Co. in Victoria, is one of the many lines handled by this large concern. At the smoke-house plant on Store street the company smokes and pickles meat, ham and bacon which can be obtained at the retail branches all over the city.

The company also deals largely in fish, poultry, lard, butter and eggs, and specializes in sausage and fancy cooked meats. The plant where these foods are prepared is open to the public for inspection at any time, and the management will gladly show the processes to any visitors who should care to call.

All the ham, bacon and lard used and sold by P. Burns & Co. come from their own packing houses in British Columbia, and the famous "Shamrock" brand is known from Winnipeg to the coast.

The company is ready at all times to buy poultry, eggs and meat from local persons who may have any to sell, and will pay the best possible price; all poultry and eggs sold in the branch retail stores being local products.

Mount Royal Milling & Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

The rice which is milled by the Mount Royal Milling & Manufacturing Co., Ltd., comes from China, India and Japan. When it is received it is in the rough state and in the company's mill on Store street it is put through a milling process, cleaned and polished.

The company exports rice all over Canada, and to parts of the United States. The mill is a large one, and an amount of new machinery has been lately installed, which enables the rice to be turned out quickly, cleanly, and purely. It is produced as cheaply as any other mill in the country, and can be obtained both from wholesalers and retailers everywhere.

The public of Victoria can obtain this rice from local grocers by simply stating that they wish Mount Royal Mill rice when ordering. Its quality is guaranteed and its price is right. In this way they can help to build up a Victoria payroll.

Turner, Beeton & Co., Ltd.

The visitor to the "Made-in-Victoria" fair will find at the exhibit of Turner, Beeton & Co., Ltd., shirt and overall manufacturers, a shirt of exceptional interest. This shirt is made in the company's factory on Bastion street, from a material practically the same as that from which the famous Dr. Jaeger's shirts are made, and is retailed at a much smaller price in the local stores. It is one of the famous "Big Horn" line of shirts and overalls.

This line consists of miner's, painter's, engineer's, plasterer's and mechanic's overalls and shirts of every conceivable kind—flannel, tweed, waterproof, cotton and silk stripe.

The factory also turns out Mackinaw coats, pants and shirts and aprons of all kinds, as well as overalls and jumpers for boys.

"Big Horn" goods are carried by all the leading stores in the country, and their quality, cut and workmanship are unexcelled. A large staff of expert cutters are employed at the factory, and the goods are of the best quality procurable—circumstances which have helped "Big Horn" brands to gain their present fame.

Pioneer Coffee & Spice Mills, Ltd.

If at any time you find yourself on Pembroke street with a few minutes to spare, walk to number 641 where at the factory of the Pioneer Coffee & Spice Mills, Ltd., you will find hearty welcome.

The management is always glad to show visitors over the plant, to explain the way coffee is blended and extracts put up, and to show the model clean factory and the pure, wholesome goods that it produces.

The best known of their products is perhaps the "Crown Brand" blend of coffee which is sold everywhere. After that comes the "Star" brand of spices, guaranteed pure. They are imported direct and ground and packed on the premises under the personal supervision of the management. Extracts are put up under the "Star" label, and the baking powder is named "Hygenic"—a phosphate powder absolutely pure and wholesome. Mustard, cream of tartar, are also packed at the plant.

The company particularly requests that the public insist that the grocer will get what they want, if he does not already stock it.

Sidney Rubber Roofing Co., Ltd.

One of the largest plants in the west is that of the Sidney Rubber Roofing Co. who manufacture roofing with a machine 90 feet long. This machine has a capacity of 500 rolls a day, and from it is turned out the Sidney Rubber Roofing. This product is manufactured from the finest long-fibered wool felt, and is made in three grades—one, two and three ply—to suit all purposes.

The plant also contains a completely equipped distilling works for crude oils, the asphaltum from which is used by the firm in the manufacture of the ready roofing and roofing felt. The storage tank for oil has a capacity of 4,000 barrels, and a pipe line runs from the tank to the company's own wharf, which is designed to accommodate the largest tank steamers, so that the oil can be pumped straight into the vessels.

It is fully expected that the local sales of the ready roofing will be very large, as the roofing is just as good as that which has heretofore been imported, and can be obtained at a great saving to the consumer.

Yarrows, Limited

The Marine Railway at the plant of Messrs. Yarrows, Ltd., is capable of accommodating vessels up to 300 feet long, and has a hauling capacity of 3,000 tons.

Since the firm of Bullen, was taken over by Messrs. Yarrows, Ltd., a large amount of work has been accomplished on this marine railway. The Princess Mary was lengthened 38 feet, and while this was going on the ship was converted for oil burning; an installation of which the firm are making a specialty. The Princess Victoria was also repaired on this railway, while of later work, the supplying of stands to the navy, and the repairing of H. M. S. Newcastle and Rainbow and the Japanese cruiser Idzumo, are worthy of note.

Yarrows, Ltd., are associated with Yarrows & Co. of Glasgow, who have built many ships for the British Navy, and so will have behind them the experience of the long-established business in the Old Country to assist them in turning out first class vessels in Canada, in the event of the government deciding on a Canadian Navy.

The Woodworkers, Ltd.

Following out the idea set on foot by the Victoria & Island Development League, the Woodworkers Limited have commenced the manufacture of toys to take the place of the Christmas toys that usually come from Germany and Austria.

At their booth at the "Made-in-Victoria" Fair the company have on exhibition a number of excellent toys. There are dolls houses and barns and stables, and a rocking horse, and trucks and barrows, and a large cannon and gun carriage to cap the whole, around which the children cluster.

While at the same time they are carrying on their usual business of woodworking, the company have found that they have several machines adapted to making parts for toys, and using a little ingenuity they have managed to get together a really excellent display.

The Victoria and Island Development Association are doing their best to assist in every way those who wish to follow up this opening caused by the war, as it is to be hoped that the public will also give their assistance when Christmas comes.

San Juan Mining & Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

Incorporated five years ago, the San Juan Mining & Manufacturing Co. started business with a stone quarry, and have now one of the largest metal polish and cleanser factories on the coast. The stone quarry was a particular kind and gave the kind of stone from which the now well-known San Juan Cleanser is made. This cleanser is the Pacific rival of Dutch Cleanser. It cleans windows, stone steps, tiling and kitchen utensils. The material from which it is made is reported better than that of Old Dutch Cleanser.

But the company has another branch. It has one out of the only four alum mines in the world.

The company also puts on the market the following products: San Juan Metal Polish, San Juan Mechanical Soap for automobile drivers, San Juan Metal Polish Paste and San Juan Plaster Powder. Victoria has right at her door a company producing one of the finest cleansers in the world—there may be others as good, but none are better.

SHOOT AT SIGHT.

"All Germans should be expelled at once," said Lord Harewood at Leeds. "They ought to have been expelled within 48 hours of the declaration of war. Men had been discovered signalling from the northeast coast to German ships. It was known that special tasks had been allotted to these German spies in the event of a German invasion. As for naturalized Germans, I do not believe in them at all."

At Harrogate he said, "I should not scruple had I a weapon and I found anyone I suspected to be a German engaged in a suspicious operation, as the Americans say, 'to shoot at sight.'"

LEAVES CHARLOTTE TO JOIN THE NAVY

Second Engineer Gordon Going to Old Country; Capt. Griffin Off on Holiday

Two officers of the C. P. R. steamer Princess Charlotte are leaving Victoria to-day, one being bound for England to join the British navy, and the other going to California on a month's holiday. Capt. O. T. Griffin, master of the big ferry steamer, is departing on the steamship Governor for San Francisco, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Margaret Griffin, the champion lady swimmer of British Columbia. During the absence of Capt. Griffin, Capt. Hunter, of the Princess Adelaide, will be in command of the Charlotte. Capt. Griffin expects to be gone one month.

Alexander Gordon, second engineer of the Princess Charlotte, leaves this afternoon for the Old Country. He intends to enter the navy. Gordon is well-known on the coast, having been in the employ of the C. P. R. for the past five years. He has served on many of the steamers of the B. C. Coast fleet, and has acted as chief engineer on some of the vessels at different times. Gordon expects to return to Victoria after the war.

Besides Capt. Griffin and his daughter, the following first-class passengers will embark on the Governor at this port to-night: Capt. H. F. Seward, one of the first men to sail out of Victoria in the sealing industry; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Morson, S. Morson, Miss Redcliffe, H. O. Youle, Miss M. C. Bourke, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Randall, Joe Bayley, the local lightweight; Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson, Miss E. Sorenson, Miss E. Bates, Miss I. Burton, Miss M. English, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bosley and Miss Ruth Bosley.

The Governor will be practically filled with passengers when she sails for California. She will also carry a good cargo.

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE RESUMES SAILINGS

A. E. Disney, of Seattle, North Pacific Coast passenger agent of the International Mercantile Marine lines, is a visitor in Victoria to-day. He states that the White Star-Dominion line will resume operations on November 7, when the Megantic sails for Liverpool. The Canada will sail on November 14 and a week later will be followed by the Laurentine.

Mr. Disney states that the Christmas sailing of this line will be on December 2, by the Arabic, and on December 12, by the Canada. These ships will sail out of Portland, Me., and Halifax, N. S. The Arabic is a vessel of 15,000 tons and is the largest one-class boat to operate in the Canadian service.

BANKDALE IS DETAINED

The British steamship Bankdale is expected to reach Esquimalt to-morrow. She will be detained under suspicion.

C. E. JENNEY IN TOWN

C. E. Jenney, of Vancouver, general agent of the passenger department of the G. T. P., is in Victoria to-day on a business trip. He announced that a shipment of apples from Terrace, a town on the new transcontinental railway, is coming south for exhibition purposes.

SUN PUTS INTO FALMOUTH.

London, Oct. 23.—The American steamer Sun, belonging to the Sun Oil Company, of Philadelphia, which left that port October 3 for Amsterdam, arrived to-day at Falmouth.

The fact that the Sun's destination was Amsterdam and that she has arrived at Falmouth may mean that she was diverted from her course by the British naval authorities.

GIVEN MOORINGS AND THEN SUNK BY GEIER

German Gunboat Reported to Have Sent Induna to Bottom at Marshalls.

It seems to be the policy of the Kaiser's "running squadrons" to carry out as much damage to the British mercantile fleet as possible. The German cruisers seem satisfied to capture a carrier and after removing the officers and crew, send ship and cargo to the bottom. A wanton waste of foodstuffs is brought about by such a policy, but it is apparently in keeping with the other brilliant feats which the Kaiser's hordes are carrying out "in support of that which is just and right."

News comes from Sydney, Aus., of the sinking of the steamer Induna, a trader operating between Jaluit, Marshall Islands, and the New South Wales port, by a German gunboat, which it is understood was the Geier. The Induna, which arrived from San Francisco on Wednesday, brought the details of the destruction of the steamer. The incident occurred prior to the capture of the Induna by the Japanese.

When the Induna arrived at Jaluit, which is the headquarters of a German co-trading company, the officers and crew had no knowledge of the outbreak of war. Ignorant of the significance of the presence of a German warship, the name of which has not been obtained, she steamed in to her moorings, and was allowed to take them unmolested.

Invited Officers Ashore.
The officers were invited ashore and then were seized by an armed guard which had been landed from the warships and which had evidently been awaiting their arrival. Then a boat of armed marines went to the Induna and the remainder of the crew was seized and taken ashore.

The warship did not waste powder and shot on the Induna. She manoeuvred round and steamed straight for the trader, and her sharp, armored bows crashed into her amidships. A great gash was torn in her side, and in a few minutes she sank.

News of the affair, by a mere chance, reached the steamer Moresby, which was following the Induna to the Marshall Islands, the information coming through the steamer Drina. The Moresby at once cancelled her projected sailing to Jaluit and returned with all speed direct to Sydney with lights out.

BIG LINERS WILL NOT OPERATE ON ATLANTIC

London, Oct. 23.—At a meeting of the Liverpool shipping on Wednesday some figures were given showing how the North Atlantic lines have been affected by the war. From June 1 to the middle of September, it was stated that the figures for passengers were 19 per cent. less for the first-class, 20 per cent. less for the second-class and 44 per cent. less for the third-class and steerage than in the corresponding period last year.

Cargo business has been fairly satisfactory in both directions, and both Lloyd's and the Marine Insurance company are apparently so convinced that the risk of seizure by German cruisers is now so small that they are quoting the low premium of 7s 6d per cent. on steamers from west coast ports of the British Isles to Canada and the United States, the rate on vessels from and to the east coast being slightly higher. None of the big Olympic type will be running this year.

U. S. DEMANDS RELEASE OF DETAINED TANKER

Washington, Oct. 23.—The United States has decided to protest formally to Great Britain against the seizure of the Standard Oil ship, Platania, demanding her release from British detention at Stornoway, a port in the Lewis Islands, Scotland.

The protest, which is identical with that in the case of the Brindella, held at Halifax, will go forward late to-day to Ambassador Page at London. The Platania, which, like the Brindella, carried illuminating oil, was similarly bound from one neutral country to another.

CUNARD LOSES CONTRACT.

London, Oct. 23.—In a dispatch from Amsterdam, the correspondent of Reuters' company says the Hungarian government has decided to withdraw the concession granted the Cunard Steamship Company for the transport of emigrants and has announced that the contract with the company is at an end. It is declared that the war already has forced the Cunard line to violate clauses of the contract, hence the decision to cancel it.

SPANISH SHIP RAMS CRUISER DESCARTES

Telesfora Collides With French Warship at St. Lucia Doing Much Damage

New York, Oct. 23.—Officers of the Spanish steamer Telesfora, which arrived here to-day from Buenos Ayres, reported that the steamer was in collision with the French cruiser Descartes in the harbor of Castries, St. Lucia, on October 5. The cruiser was badly damaged, according to the officers, and had to be taken to Martinique for repairs.

The collision occurred as the Telesfora was entering the harbor. The officers did not see the Descartes till the cruiser was dead ahead. The steamer's engines were reversed and she let drop her anchor. Her momentum, however, was too great and she crashed at high speed full into the warship. The Telesfora was made to give a bond to make good the cruiser's repairs before she was permitted to continue her trip to Boston and New York. Her damages were found to be insignificant. The Telesfora is of approximately 2,700 tons.

MARGARET MADE HIGH SPEED IN HER TESTS

New Princess Makes 23.15 Knots an Hour; Did Well in Endurance Test

A speed of 23.15 knots an hour having been attained on the mile course on the Clyde, and a good 22 1/2 knots an hour having been maintained on an endurance test of six hours, the trial trips of the new C. P. R. steamer Princess Margaret have been announced as entirely satisfactory. Capt. J. W. Troup, manager of the B. C. Coast service, has just been advised by cablegram from Dumbarton, Scotland, that the speed tests were carried out on Wednesday. Besides giving the speeds made by the flyer, the cablegram added that the ship was not forced over the mile course and in the endurance test there was an ample margin of speed. This means that the Margaret will probably make close to 24 knots an hour after her arrival on this coast when the stiffness of her engines has been worn off and the bearings have found their true running.

The Princess Margaret is now berthed at Denny Bros' yards having the finishing touches made to her interior and also a few adjustments made to the oil-burners and machinery. Nothing has been announced as to when the fast ship will start out on her run to Victoria.

With the remarkable speed which the Margaret demonstrated on Wednesday she will make the trips between Victoria and Vancouver and Victoria and Seattle in three hours and a half, considerably faster than the time now maintained by the Charlotte and Victoria. All speed records will be broken when the new ships enter service on this coast, and the famous Princess Victoria will be forced into the background. The new ship will have several knots the best of her.

The Princess Irene, which was launched at Dumbarton a few days ago, will not have her engines tested for a month or two. It would not be surprising if she eclipses the remarkable performances of the Margaret, through the fact that the builders have the advantage of remedying any slight defects they may see in the workings of the other ship.

The time used in Pacific standard, for the 19th meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

FORCED TO ABANDON WORK ON NEW BEACON

Leebro Meets Tempestuous Weather Off White Rocks; Wait Till Spring

Distributing stores and supplies to the lighthouses and replenishing the beacons with fresh quantities of carbide during the winter is hazardous work for the officers and crews of the tenders, but the building of a new aid to navigation during the stormy months is a tremendous undertaking and confronts the men with gigantic obstacles. The tender Leebro, Captain Hunter, returned to port yesterday afternoon after a six weeks' trip to northern waters, and her crew can testify to the difficulties which have to be overcome in building an aid to navigation during the winter. The Leebro attempted to erect a new beacon on White Rocks, Milbank Sound, but the crew had to abandon the work.

The Leebro left here to build new concrete beacons on Kingcombe Point and White Rocks. On reaching the latter place a great sea was rolling in from Hecate Strait and washing clear over the reef. After a few days the sea moderated and the men were able to land some of the material. But the work had to be suspended, and in order not to lose time the Leebro proceeded to Granby Bay to replace a buoy that was out of position. She then received orders to head for Skidegate and replace the buoy there. That work completed the ship made for Kingcombe Point and erected the concrete beacon there. She returned to the White Rocks, but heavy weather was still prevailing there. Although the top of the rock is 50 feet above high water, the seas at times were hunched clear to the top of it. After waiting about for twelve days for favorable opportunities to carry out the work, Capt. Hunter decided to come south.

The weather in Hecate Strait was very bad and drenching rains fell almost continually. One of the men on board the Leebro said this morning: "Why you people down here don't know what good weather you really have. From the time we passed Cape Mudge northbound until we passed the same point southbound we had it blowing and raining all the time. And now we're here to get a little sunshine."

THE PRUSSIAN NEVER CHANGE THEIR SPOTS

They Were the Exponents of Pillage and Terror a Century
Ago as They Are To-day

Our invitation to readers to send us letters from the front has brought us two strange documents, says the London "Chronicle." They are "letters from the front," but they were written nearly a hundred years ago. The author was Lieutenant Isaac Blackburn, R. N., who fought under Wellington in the Waterloo campaign, having charge of the ammunition and forage department.

The letters, which are now in the possession of Miss Wreford, of Brixton, a great-niece of the writer, are of especial interest just now, as they show that Prussian tactics of pillage and terrorization are nothing new. Even when they were our allies they were none the less the brigands.

Dated Antwerp, July 8, 1815, the first letter, which like the second was addressed by the Lieutenant to his father, contains the following passages:

"I have every reason to expect to-morrow I sleep at Bruxelles, next day at Mons, where I remain till further orders."

"Since writing you last I have seen many circumstances which will, when I return to England, be interesting to you which time will not permit at present. Suffice to say that I have been nights together sleeping in open wagons, been in retreat and on watch all night ready to start in case of alarm and within three miles (English) of the field of battle which will immortalize the name of Wellington."

"He is adored by the whole army; any soldier would lay down his life willingly for Wellington. What you have seen in the paper is nothing in comparison to what has taken place."

"In three weeks, an army of near 400,000 has been destroyed."

Bonaparte's insolence.

"Bonaparte had the insolence to send a flag of truce to Wellington, saying that he would dine at Bruxelles the next day, but he considered not that he had his equal in Wellington. The same day he was defeated by the English—a fine army destroyed. To see the quantity of dead and wounded is not very pleasant, but you become accustomed to it."

"I expected once to have been taken in retreat, for the French were within three miles of me in pursuit. I had a number of wagons in charge, and although soldiers and officers internixed were flying away and myself only going a walk, I was determined either to be taken or secure every atom of my charge, which I thank God, I did, though in the bustle with horses, etc., I was drawn from my horse twice without sustaining the least injury."

"I was obliged once on the road to present my pistol at the head of carriers, for they would not move. I thought I should have been obliged to have shot one and drawn the wagon myself, but fortunately I succeeded without."

"Louis XVIII. is not liked anywhere, neither by the French or in any town that I have been in yet. He is not accepted enough. They talk of Eugene's making a good king, with both mercantile and military advantages."

"There are many English gentlemen residing in the different towns in the country who cannot reside in England and keep up the consequence of a gentleman that appear in the highest style. Three hundred in this country per annum is equal to in England five hundred, and it is a most pleasant, delightful country that possibly can be."

From the second letter, dated Paris, July 27, we quote the following:

"I have the satisfaction of addressing you from the finest city of the world. Since writing you last from Antwerp I have travelled through several towns, and travelling slowly, having taken stores in charge from Mons, I have had an opportunity of seeing the country more at leisure."

"My route from Antwerp I think worth inserting as an amusement for my dear sisters seeking the places on the map, as also in the dictionary. It was as follows—first from Antwerp to Malines, Vilvorde, Bruxelles, Ixelles, Suresnes, Mons, Bayay, Lez, Courmouy, Fort, Marnieux, Louviers, St. Denis, Paris, besides different little villages between the towns I have mentioned."

There is no better safeguard against disease and suffering than a good cathartic medicine. In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are constantly kept at hand, because they quickly awaken the action of liver, kidneys and bowels, and cure the most common ills of life.

Mrs. Thos. Smith, Jamestown, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's is no stranger in our home, for we have two of his Receipt Books in the house. My father and my husband's father each had one, and I have been familiar with it ever since I can remember. It was only natural that we should use the Kidney-Liver Pills, and we found them so satisfactory in regulating the digestive system and curing the common ills of life that we always keep them on hand. Many a time these pills have saved me much suffering and prevented serious disease. We also keep the Ointment in the house all the time."

tion that had been made by the Prussians. In passing the villages they pillaged and plundered every house they met with. The inhabitants had fled and not a single article could be procured for even money, and had it not been for my rations I do not know what I should have done.

"I had an escort of 16 men, as the roads are very much infested with gangs of soldiers who have deserted from Napoleon's army. On the night of the 18th inst., at a miserable farmhouse where I was billeted with the men under my command and wagons, about 1 o'clock I had a skirmish with a party of them. We exchanged about 30 shots and then we thought it better to charge, which we did, and drove them completely. I am happy to say that not any on my side were wounded, but I have every reason to suspect that the enemy was much so, we having the advantage of being in ambush under the wagons and darkness favoring us. They could not perceive us whilst they were in open ground."

"There is an anecdote current at present respecting the Duke of Wellington. He was heard to say to his officers last year in passing over Waterloo, where he completed the ruin of the French army, that if ever he had to engage with Bonaparte and could choose his ground, Waterloo should be it, and in the very field this year he had his wish."

"The war will now, I think, shortly be at an end. There is one army with soul to be beat, and then it will be finished."

"The Parisians are not so much for Bonaparte as the people of England suspect. I met with an English gentleman a few days since who had resided in Paris for some years, and he says that two-thirds are for Louis and the other third almost disgusted by Bonaparte forsaking his army."

"When he entered Paris he would have lost his life had he not had a considerable number of soldiers with him."

"The Prussians have behaved so bad to the French and the English so well, that they have made themselves very much respected by the French, who behave extremely polite and hospitable to them. The Prussians have demanded a contribution of eight hundred millions of francs and the English—nothing."

Bonaparte's insolence.

"Bonaparte had the insolence to send a flag of truce to Wellington, saying that he would dine at Bruxelles the next day, but he considered not that he had his equal in Wellington. The same day he was defeated by the English—a fine army destroyed. To see the quantity of dead and wounded is not very pleasant, but you become accustomed to it."

ON FAIRFIELD ROAD

Owners Do Not Want Paving Done Next Year; Width of Paving on Fisgard

Little business was before the meeting of the city streets committee this afternoon. The principal matter was the paving of Fairfield road, objection to which was lodged by a deputation of owners, who expressed the fear that if the council at its next meeting passed a resolution embracing the two sections of the road from Dallas road to St. Charles street and from that street to Fowl Bay road, under section 9 of the Local Improvement Act, it would force the hands of the owners and the paving, 44 feet wide, with asphalt concrete would be proceeded with next year.

The same arguments which have been used at several meetings were laid before the aldermen. It was pointed out that if the thoroughfare was not all that it should be, the owners on the road were the chief sufferers.

City Engineer Rust drew the attention of the members to the width of Fisgard street, in the eastern portion, which is proposed to be paved as one of the streets for relief work. He did this in view of the fact that the by-law provides for a width of 46 feet, which he regards as too wide for the character of the thoroughfare and imposing too great a cost on the citizens for a term of years. Mr. Rust's policy throughout the period since he took office has been that narrower paving for streets is equally good from all standpoints, and certainly less expensive than wide paving.

Reference was made to the conditions on Shasta street, a matter which had previously engaged the attention of the streets committee.

City hall circles are quiet at present, the cause being the absence of officials at the convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities at Kamloops. Early next week the aldermen will visit the property at Mount Douglas, which it is proposed to buy for a cemetery.

Park Superintendent Purdy reports that the 2,400 trees which were to be given to the city for shade purposes in order to relieve the congestion at Beacon Hill park have now all been disposed of, and a notice has been posted that no further requests can be complied with at the nursery.

A strict record has been kept of all applicants' addresses, hence it is known that citizens obtained them all. The groups given varied from two to ten, though few received as many as ten. Only those with unusually large properties were given the larger number. Laburnums, planes and similar trees were most in demand.

Fire Chief Davis, who returned to his office to-day with his nose bandaged as a result of the recent accident, had a call yesterday from Commissioner Ross (light), Young (water), Valentine (public utilities), Josephans (buildings) and Charles (streets and sewers), who are arranging to purchase three motor hose wagons for the Seattle fire department. They came to see the new motor hose wagon at headquarters, being accompanied by Chief Taro, of Everett, Wash., and A. B. Hughes, representing the Nott Fire Engine Co., the firm that manufactured the hose wagon. They were greatly impressed with the progress made in the Victoria department, and congratulated the chief on the modern equipment.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED

Patriotic Aid Society Will Have Representatives at Tournament To-morrow.

The patriotic aid committee has appointed a special committee to assist the military committee in charge of the tournament which is to take place to-morrow at the Willows, where drummer boys will act as ushers, and a bugler will sell programmes at ten cents each. The following constitute the committees referred to:

For advertising and printing, J. J. Shalcross, C. E. Thomas, H. W. Canavan; for gates, grand stand and boxes, Dr. S. F. Tolmie, C. Donham and J. B. McCullum; and treasurer, secretary, and chairman respectively as follows: R. F. Taylor, A. J. Dal-lain and C. A. Holland.

On Sunday evening a patriotic service will be held in the First Baptist church, Dominion theatre, when Rev. J. B. Warnick, B. A., will take as his subject, "Patriotism True and False, or Our Duty to the Empire in the Present Crisis." Professor T. J. Haywood will give an organ recital from 7 till 7.30, and "Victor War-ram will render the Andante Religioso on the violin. Mrs. Alfred A. Codd and Harty Morden will be the soloists. The choir of the church, under the leadership of Professor Haywood, will sing anthems appropriate to the service.

INJUNCTION REFUSED

Applications to County Court Judge Arising Out of the Globe Realty Liquidation.

Two applications were made to Judge Lammman in county court to-day arising out of the liquidation of the Globe Realty company. They were made by J. S. Brandon, acting for W. H. Adam, liquidator of the company.

In the first place Mr. Brandon asked for an injunction restraining the Hudson Bay Insurance company from collecting premiums on policies placed through the Globe Realty company. He argued that as the agent firm was entitled to commission on these premiums the liquidator was entitled to have all such paid through him, so that the estate might profit to the extent to which the firm would have done had it still been solvent. He held that the insurance company had been to look to the Globe Realty company or its liquidator for any of these premiums that were unpaid, and that if the latter did not collect the premiums it might not be able to collect what it was entitled to.

Counsel for the other side was not present but his honor was clear that the application should be refused. Yesterday the court made a replevin order to the Hudson Bay Insurance company, through George Mowat, four account books and a number of cards, and in obedience to this the sheriff had handed over the documents. To-day Mr. Brandon asked for another replevin order to recover these in the name of the liquidator, on the ground that they were not the property of the insurance company.

In this case, the application was enlarged until Tuesday next, in order that notice may be given to the other side.

BATTALION WILL BE CONCENTRATED HERE

Eleven Hundred Men for Second Expeditionary Force Will Gather at the Willows

Of the two battalions of infantry, each comprising 1,125 officers and men, which this province is to contribute to the second expeditionary force from Canada, one will be concentrated here and the other in Vancouver. The men to gather in the capital will assemble at the Willows for preliminary training, and the other battalion will be gathered on the exhibition grounds in the mainland city.

The 88th Fusiliers and the 50th Highlanders will each furnish 250 men; there are fifty men on the way down from Dawson, who were to have left Skagway yesterday, and one hundred from Prince Rupert and the Skeena district, and the others will be drawn from other regiments and by recruiting. The 250 men of the Rocky Mountain Rangers from Kamloops will train at Vancouver.

As all the men of the two local regiments mentioned have volunteered to go to the front, and all are physically fit and efficient in drill and marksmanship, there is quite a friendly rivalry to be selected for the contingent. The very pick of the men will be taken, and there will still be left men just fit to make a third contingent, if it is called for, and to furnish reserves for both contingents.

The afternoon boat to Vancouver to-day took two bodies of soldiers, who will accompany each other across the Dominion. The Elliott Horse, which was unable to get away yesterday afternoon owing to unexpected obstacles which arose at the last moment, went on board shortly after 1 o'clock. They had paraded at their headquarters at 10 o'clock, and marched down to the boating "Tupperary" and other rousing songs and choruses.

There were a great many friends of the squadron at the boat to wish them a speedy passage to the front and good luck there. Among these were R. T. Elliott, K. C., Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Pemberton, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roper, Peter McAra, ex-mayor of Regina; E. C. Mathews, ex-mayor of Moose Jaw; David Spencer, Junior, and many others. Captain A. C. G. Smith, the officer commanding the squadron, went over yesterday afternoon and proceeds to Ennaboy by an earlier steamer so as to make arrangements for its reception there. He bears credentials to Earl Kitchener, secretary for war, and expects that the squadron will be sent to the battle-front almost immediately.

The hundred recruits for the Royal Canadian regiments also went on east this afternoon. These are a well-set-up lot of young fellows and will make a welcome addition to the permanent force. They go through to Halifax, where they will undergo a short period of training before being sent to Hamilton, Bermuda, to replace the companies of the regiment which are in garrison there and allow them to proceed to the front.

There was a big turn-out of the men of the Victoria Volunteer Guard last evening at headquarters on Douglas street, and the men were put through the various evolutions of the drill, in which they show more and more proficiency each week. It is expected that at the Thursday evening parade next week the guard will be inspected by the district officer commanding, and with this in mind the men were put through a particularly stiff drill last night.

This evening at 8 o'clock, in the Lampson Street school, the members of the Esquimalt Rifle club will meet to hear a report from the committee appointed early in the week to draw up a constitution. R. H. Pooley, M.P.P., is chairman pro tem, and Principal Stacey is acting as secretary. A large attendance of those interested in rifle shooting is requested at this meeting, when members will be sworn in.

TRIAL RESUMED.

Hearing in Which Ernest Kennedy is Charged With Obstructing Sheriff Proceeded With.

The case in which Ernest Kennedy is accused of obstructing the sheriff in the performance of his duty was continued this morning in the police court, and the final hearing started at three o'clock this afternoon. H. W. R. Moore appears for the defence and R. C. Love for the prosecution.

At the outset of the proceedings there was a long argument between counsel as to the manner in which the case was to be tried. Mr. Moore argued that the magistrate has absolute jurisdiction in a case of this nature, while the prosecution took the ground that it was a case for election. Various authorities were quoted, and counsel got so heated in argument that the magistrate intervened and called them to order. Magistrate Jay finally held that the case was one which came within his jurisdiction, and the examination of Sheriff Richards was proceeded with.

CONCLUDES LECTURES

Mrs. Blair Addresses Big Audience of Ladies on House-Furnishing.

Mrs. Margaret Blair yesterday concluded her series of three lectures which have been held for three successive days at the store of David Spencer, Ltd., her talk on "Furnishing" being perhaps of more general interest than any which had preceded it.

Harmony was insisted upon as the keynote of good taste in house furnishing, and emphasis was placed on the advisability of selecting quiet neutral colors rather than choosing bold contrasts which would tend to weary the eye. In buying rugs and carpets attention should be given to the selection of tones that would go with the finishing of the rooms in which they were to be placed, and Scotch wool rugs were highly recommended as not having a thick pile surface and being, consequently, easily kept clean. Books and pictures were important, too, and in obtaining the latter most people would find it wise to select pleasant rather than depressing subjects, and simple rather than ornate frames.

Windows were important. The blinds should be the same color outside as the trimming of the house, and inside should match the finishing in the room. Duplex blinds, were no more expensive than the other kind. Cheap scrim curtains were nearly always the prettiest, but a deep six-inch hem should be put in to allow for shrinkage when they were washed the first time, when the hem could be let down. Heavily-embroidered sofa-pillows expressed only a senseless waste of time. Better have plain pillow covers which no one would be afraid to use, and which would wash easily. The same with guest towels. It was an absolute waste of time to embroider these too much.

In selecting furniture comfort should be thought of before all else, and in the arrangement of a room the same principle should be the guide. Space bedrooms should be kept open and well aired, and should be made as comfortable and homelike as possible. "So many people made the mistake of using the cupboards therein, for their own clothes, and then when the guest came there was no place for her things."

A concluding axiom which Mrs. Blair emphasized had to do with the mental standpoint. "Be contented," she said, "those around you happy. And in your home remember four things: First, orderliness; second, contentment; third, hospitality, and fourth, Godliness."

A large audience of ladies was present, and accorded the lecturer a hearty round of applause at the close of her talk.

OBITUARY RECORD

The death of a very interesting character occurred this morning at the Old Ladies' Home when Mrs. Frances MacMillan, one of the most aged of the residents and for more than five years an inmate of the home, passed away. Well-known among the friends of the institution, Mrs. MacMillan was 91 years of age at the time of her death. She was a colored woman and a native of Kentucky, the plantation life of which during and immediately after the Civil war, when she was still but a young girl, she often described. Tales of the days of slavery, told her when she was a small child, were also part of the very entertaining reminiscences with which she regaled her friends from time to time, and she claimed to have seen the original who took the part of Uncle Tom in the famous original production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon.

The remains of the late Mrs. Gertrude Ranney Armstrong were interred yesterday afternoon at Ross Bay cemetery, the services being held at Christ Church cathedral at 2 o'clock, and services being conducted by Very Rev. Dean Doull, assisted by Rev. H. G. Dave. The hymns sung were "On the Desecrated Morn" and "How Bright Those Glorious Spirits Shine." Numerous beautiful flowers were arranged on the casket. The following acted as pallbearers: Messrs. G. D. Christie, R. L. Rogers, M. J. Little, J. E. Rissner, W. H. Pennock, and A. McKewen.

The funeral of the late John Hyland, of Telegraph Creek, took place yesterday afternoon, proceeding to the Metropolitan Methodist church. Here many friends were gathered to pay their last tribute of respect and affection to the deceased. Rev. Joseph Philp conducting the simple but impressive service. Many exquisite flowers were arranged on and about the casket, and others were sent out to Ross Bay cemetery. Among those who attended the obsequies were representatives of various departments at the government buildings and prominent business men of the city, by whom the deceased was well known and highly esteemed. The following were pallbearers: Hon. Dr. Young, Hon. Thos. Taylor, Messrs. H. S. Clements, M. P., J. Wolfenden, T. J. Jackman, and George A. Fraser.

Tom Ochiltree, having been hurt in a railway accident, brought suit for damages. Walking with the aid of crutches some months afterwards he met a friend, who inquired: "Can't you get along without crutches, Tom?" "The doctor says I can," said Ochiltree, "but my lawyer says I can't."

Extract From "BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL" March 23, 1907.

"A Most Valuable Food"

At a time when the preparation of artificial foodstuffs is receiving more attention than ever before, and when new forms of easily assimilable fat to take the place of cod liver oil are being frequently brought to the notice of the medical profession, it is desirable that some of the older forms of administering natural fats should not be lost sight of. Among natural fats, butter easily takes first place for nutritive value, and when combined with a suitable soluble carbohydrate, a most valuable food is produced.

The BUTTER SCOTCH which Messrs. Callard & Bowser (Duke's Road, Easton Road, W. C.) have prepared for fifty years is such an article, which has the great advantage of being palatable, so palatable in fact, that children are more likely to accept restraining from excess than any persuading to take it. This BUTTER SCOTCH is stated to contain 10 per cent. of fat and 75 per cent. of sugar, and the results of an analysis which we have made recently of a specimen substantially confirm these figures; further chemical examination of the fat extracted showed it to be genuine butter fat. This confection can therefore be recommended, not only as a harmless sweetmeat, but also as a very useful addition to the diet in suitable cases.

BUYERS ARE TENDING SUPPORT TO PORTLAND

Glacier Strong; Standard Lead
Had Lower Range; Oils
Featureless

There were several instances of cheaper offerings of stock at the morning session of the local exchange. In the absence of any awakened demand, in any one issue, holders of different shares were making offers at a concession.

Portland Canal bidding was unchanged and as firm as Thursday, but the asked price was one-quarter lower. Not so in Glacier Creek, for this issue was again inherently strong.

Standard Lead had a lower range, but altogether acts very well in face of mining depression and liquidating pressure in shares of most of this order.

The list of oil values tended downward and there were instances of withdrawn bids, but on the other hand no real selling power.

Calgary reports were featureless.

DIAZ IS NOT DEAD.

Biarritz, France, Oct. 23.—There is no truth in the report of the death of Porfirio Diaz, former dictator of Mexico. Senor Diaz has been suffering from a slight gastric trouble, but he has taken long rides daily for several days and to-day he took a walk on the beach.

SEABOARD BUSINESS SENDS WHEAT HIGHER

Buying at Chicago Good Following Early Dip in Price
Level To-day

(By F. W. Stevenson & Co.)
Chicago, Oct. 23.—There was the best action in wheat to-day since the excited bull campaign on the early new news two months ago. The earlier feeling in the market yesterday encouraged local business. The easier Liverpool cable was on the same lines. At the outset exporters rather intimated that the demand was slow. Local trade forced break in prices, 114 1/2 December and 120 1/2 for May. Nearly all the big concerns in the trade were buyers on the dip, including half-dozen big export concerns. Then the reports began coming and estimating something like 700,000 bushels export business at seaboard, 200,000 at Duluth, 300,000 at Kansas City, and a half-million here. This news caught the trade in an over-optimistic position. There was covering of short lines, replacing and fresh investment buying on the strongest and broadest market for many weeks, and prices were carried 11 1/2 December and 120 1/2 for May.

Some strong influences were at work in corn as noted yesterday. The local bear forces had to give up the fight and take the buying side. Reports of poor yields came.

Oats trade simply followed the bullish leadership of wheat and corn, and was helped by reports of large cargoes on the Pacific Coast and report from Snow covering the Canadian Northwest indicating yields poorer than the most pessimistic reports have indicated.

LEFT FOOD SUPPLIES IN HURRIED RETREAT

London, Oct. 23.—In a dispatch from Warsaw the correspondent of Reuters says the German retreat from Warsaw was so precipitate that the soldiers had to abandon their food supplies. Many prisoners taken were exhausted from hunger.

WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER ON WINNIPEG MARKET

Winnipeg, Oct. 23.—Opening prices were steady on the Winnipeg market this morning, being 1/2c higher for November and unchanged for other months, but a good active demand developed, causing values to advance rapidly, and about noon the gain from opening was 1/2c to 1/4c. It was asserted that the bulk of pit buyers were of the speculative element. Oats were strong from the outset and shortly before noon had advanced from yesterday's close 1/2c to 1/4c.

Receipts were light, 271 cars being inspected Thursday as against 1,384 last year, and in sight there were 350 cars. Wheat options were 1/2c to 1/4c higher at the close. The cash situation was extremely active for wheat, oats and barley, and, as one broker said, anything you have to offer is taken up on the spot. Cash wheat gained 1/2c to 1/4c, for contract grades, and oats 1/2c to 1/4c. Cash flax was 1/4c lower. A decidedly keen inquiry for export exists and while it was claimed there was little or none working the trade was holding back waiting a probable cashiers in values.

VON ALVENSLEBEN FIRM

Court Makes Order for the Winding Up of the Company; Assets Are One-Third of Liabilities.

An order has been made by Chief Justice Hunter, sitting in chambers in Vancouver, for the winding up of the affairs of the firm of Alvo von Alvensleben, Limited. The application was made by W. Martin Griffin, acting on behalf of John Gurney Fortham, a creditor of the firm to the extent of $31,000 for moneys lent.

Mr. Griffin said the firm had been incorporated in 1907 to take over the business of von Alvensleben, and had gone into voluntary liquidation on Sep. 28 last. The liabilities were in the neighborhood of $3,600,000, and the assets, which consisted of real estate, mining claims and interests in agreements, were expected to realize over one million dollars.

R. Kerr Houlgate, of the Yorkshire Guarantee Company, was named by the court as liquidator.

Down at a southern race course, which I shall designate no more than to say that it's a place where you lose your money in the winter time, I took a young lady out to the track, and she insisted on placing a bet on a horse. She wouldn't even let me help her to do it. The horse did worse than to come in last. He turned around and ran the other way. I said: "Well, you lose your bet. The horse you had your money on is running the wrong way." She gurgled with satisfaction. "Shows that a woman's instinct can't go wrong," she answered, triumphantly. "I played him both ways."

HOIST NEW UNION JACK

Flag Presented to University School by Daughters of Empire Unfurled With Ceremonies Yesterday.

The University school yesterday afternoon hoisted its new flag, presented by the Daughters of the Empire, the ceremony being made an impressive one, and taking place in the presence of the warden, headmaster and representatives of the Daughters of the Empire, and others. The cadet corps lined up on the drill ground before the flagstaff, and as Sergeant Soper ran the Union Jack to the masthead, where it unfurled to the breeze, the salute was given.

Explaining the origin of the gift and pointing out something of what the emblem of Empire stood for Rev. W. W. Bolton, who addressed the school-boys, expressed appreciation for the very timely presentation. The old flag, presented by the education department had long since passed its stage of usefulness, and the gift sent by the Daughters of the Empire would fill a much-needed want. There were now at the front more than twenty old boys of the University school, while R. V. Harvey, whose work at the school had meant so much, had also gone as a captain in the 88th Fusiliers. A final word to the cadets contained the adjuration to go into their military training with heart and soul, and to be prepared to use it whenever called on in defence of all that the old flag stood for. The proceedings concluded with three rousing cheers for "Our King and Flag," "The Daughters of the Empire," and "Mr. Harvey and Old Boys at the Front."
